

Sorta season 4 type thing

by fishboy99

Category: H2O: Just Add Water

Genre: Adventure, Romance

Language: English

Characters: Cleo S., Emma G., Lewis M., OC

Pairings: Cleo S./Lewis M., OC/Emma G.

Status: Completed

Published: 2012-08-08 21:42:31

Updated: 2014-06-27 14:05:16

Packaged: 2016-04-26 12:50:55

Rating: T

Chapters: 20

Words: 30,906

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: Lewis has finally returned from America with a degree in marine biology. He brings along with him a strange new coworker he met over in America named Justin. Justin however carries a strange past with him that will affect the lives of everyone. Emma is also back and is ready to return to life with her friends. Old enemies will return and the ocean will run black.(completed)

1. episode 1

Well you all don't really know me because this is my second fan fiction and first under the H2O category. Just so you know I sometimes get a little lazy when it comes to updating but, I have been getting better. Also don't expect me to slow down with writing when it comes to school because guess what I do when I get bored. You see I always finish things early and have nothing to do so I write and typically get stuck writing and reading to myself until I got up here. Well anyway about the story. I'm usually not much on Ocs but well I couldn't resist. So this is just a friend that Lewis met in the states. They work together as marine biologists. Well anyway emma is in there with the rest of the cast except ash and sophie, but I'll explain that in the story. Oh and since sophie will not be in there at all just mentioned once I will explain that. Well I kinda barely watched season 3 so I barley get bella and will(but, it is enough to include them)but, I never got to the part about sophie so shes going to be somewhere just not there. I know basic things about the rest of the season but, there still will be some mistakes I promise you. Oh and this will be like a show not every episode will involve the main conflict(To me sometimes I find fillers to be the best episodes of a show) The problem is I am not that great at writing them so any ideas will be greatly appreciated. Throughout the story I will pop in and provide commentary to keep things interesting and sometimes funny. Well I believe that's all for now. So here we go. Sorta season 4 premiere New Moon's Eye part 1 starts now. **

Disclaimer=I do not own H2O or the endless ocean blue world creatures mentioned if I did do you really think I would be sitting here writing this . However the new marine biologist (his name will be revealed in the story) is property of me

Finish the last shows credits and here we go.

New Moons Eye Part 1

It was normal summer day in gold coast Australia and a lone girl was walking down the beach. "It really hasn't changed much in a year." Emma said as she looked out at the ocean in front of her. "Yet almost nothing is the same" She said thinking of all the things Cleo had informed her of while she was away. Such as Bella the new mermaid. The juicenet being shut down and being renamed Rikki's. Then there was the other thing, the moonpool. She wasn't quite sure what to think the night she got that email. Although she wasn't shocked Zane was partially responsible. " Well I think it may be a good time to hit the ocean it's been to long." Emma said and ran into the ocean.

Emma swam through the ocean. The reef was lively with all sorts of fish and other creatures of the sea. Some dolphins began circling Emma playfully. The mermaid stopped and smiled as the dolphins played in the water.

It was this that made her feel at peace that she was finally home. Then one of the dolphins stopped in front of Emma and touched her with its beak. The mermaid then left and headed off into the open ocean. She reached the island the one that only her and her friends ever went to that was part of the reason it was so special.

"So wait they went to Canberra and are getting married in a month." A blonde mermaid said talking to the girl beside her as they floated in the moonpool. "Yeah, Will got the invitation yesterday. Amazingly enough neither of us were invited." The other mermaid said "For some reason that doesn't bother me." The other replied. Suddenly from the back of the cave " Hello girls how are you."

Cleo sat in the lobby of Brisbane airport. She had been there for an hour waiting for one particular flight. She had got the call a week ago.

Lewis had told her he was coming home. She was happy yet she just knew something bad was going to happen. He had mentioned some guy he met in america. He was apparently studying marine biology too when they met. Lewis had said that they would be working together. She already knew this wouldn't go over well with the others so she didn't mention it. Then she felt a hand on her shoulder.

Cleo looked over her shoulder and smiled. She stood up and hugged him.

"I've missed you so much" She said " I missed you too." Then she kissed him and they just sat and talked."so how is America." Cleo asked " Great, it's a beautiful country just it doesn't have you." Lewis answered "Hey um Cleo I have a question for you." "Sure Lewis what is it"

Lewis looked over and saw the dark haired guy coming down the lobby towards where him and Cleo were. Lewis stood up and greeted him " Oh Justin this is my girlfriend Cleo, Cleo this is Justin." "Nice to meet you cleo." Justin said extending his hand. Cleo shook it and said "nice to meet you too." "Well Its been months since I've seen home so lets get moving." Lewis said.

Cleo Walked off leaving the boys there for just a second. "Did you pop the question yet?" Justin asked "No I got nervous." Lewis answered "Well when are you?" Justin asked "sometime" Lewis answered and then walked off.

"So you were coming home today and you didn't think to tell anybody." Rikki said to Emma in the cave around the moonpool. "I wanted it to be a surprise" Emma Replied

She then turned to Bella. "So you must be Bella, Cleo has told me so much about you." She asked "Well they have certainly mention you. I heard you've been traveling the world, what was your favorite place?" Bella asked "probably Paris its such a beautiful city" Emma answered "Yeah I once went there when I was little." Bella replied "So where's Cleo today." Emma asked. "She went to get From the airport today, although I'm pretty sure there is something she knows we'll be mad about so she didn't tell us." Rikki said "Well anyway you all want to get something to eat, I haven't ate yet and I want to see the cafÃ©."

The three girls were just walking up to rikki's cafÃ© when they saw Lewis and Cleo talking to a guy. "Well anyway I've got to go get my place from that family friend so see you later." The guy said and walked off just as the girls walked up. "Who was that Rikki" asked "That was my friend from America we are going to be working together as marine biologists. "What!" The three girls said obviously not happy " We need to talk, Moonpool now." Rikki said

"Well Why didn't you tell us about this" Rikki said in the moonpool cavern

"Cause I Knew you'd be mad" Cleo answered "Well what if he finds out about us" Emma said "Well there's nothing we can do now" Cleo said "Cleo's right" Bella said " Plus I can keep him away from mako so you'll be fine. "Okay, but he better not find out." Rikki said Emma looked at the ground and saw something sparkle in the sand. "Hey whats this she picked It up but, slipprd and dropped it in the pool.

Then suddenly a large black circle appeared on the wall behind them. "What does that mean?" Cleo asked "its just a black circle." Hang on a second the black moon. Its referring to the new moon which is tonight." Lewis said " So Why don't we come back tonight and just get some food right now" Emma said ok. Her Rikki and bella jumped into the water and swam off. Just as Cleo was about to get into the water. "Hey cleo wait." Lewis said " Remember how at the airport I wanted to ask you something. Well I think now's a good time." "What is it Lewis?" Cleo asked. Lewis reached into his pocket and pulled out a small box. "Cleo Setori Will you marry me?"

Now that wraps that up. The answer will be in the next Episode New Moons Eye Part 2. That should e up Tuesday possibly tomorrow but, not likely. Please review but, Remember What I said about saying this makes me less of a man

2. episode 2

Hello all my viewers out there. I would personally like to thank the following authors for making time to read my story it means alot You know what I'm saying. Okay remember what I said in the last chapter about sending me ideas well just leave them in the comment section and ill pm you about permission if I like the idea so I don't have to deal with all that copyright stuff. Oh and so I don't have to deal with this later. There will not be any mermen in this story. Okay. If Your into that kind of thing good for you that's not me though. Oh and there will be no more commentary. Well thank you to all the peeps. New Moons Eye Part 2 starts now

Disclaimer I do not own H2o or the endless ocean creature but Justin is mine **

Finish the last shows credits and here we go

New Moons Eye Part 2

"Cleo Setori will you marry me." Lewis asked A smile grew across Cleo's Face. "Yes, I will marry you." She answered "Aw I knew I messed up asking nowâ€|Wait, you said yes." Lewis said "Yes I did" Cleo answered "So what do we do now" Lewis asked "I guess we kiss and then go tell our friends and family we are getting married." Cleo answered. Then he Kissed her. "Well I'm gonna go tell Emma, Rikki, and Bella." Cleo said and then jumped into the pool. "Hey, cleo wait umâ€| and she's gone."

Justin walked up the front steps of a house that had a beautiful view of the ocean behind it. The dark haired marine biologist was not there for this house but, instead the one beside it. He knocked on the door. It was answered a minute later by a man in about his mid sixties about 5'9 200 lbs. "Oh my gosh I haven't seen you since you were a kid." The man said "It has been a while ain't it Rick." "So what brings you back to Australia kid." Rick asked. "You know why I'm here." Justin answered " Listen kid I knew your parents and this was to dangerous for them so I'm sure its much to powerful for you." Rick answered. " What is it I have been asking anyone who would know since I was sixteen and that's all anyone wants to tell me I want answers." Justin said irritated "I won't let you die kid. I promised your father that." Rick answered "Then wheres the old lady the one my mother used to talk to. " He said " I can't tell you that because I know what your gonna do." Rick responded " Then at least give me the key so I will have a place to live." Justin answered " Listen Justin I won't help you with this but, I will tell you this your parents kept everything in their work on computers they put the weird stuff in chests."Well listen I'm going to go bye that CafÃ© on the canal and get something to eat."

Cleo walked through the entrance of Rikki's cafÃ© she saw her friends just where they usually were in the same booth they always sat in. "Hey guys I have some big news." "Oh, hey Cleo were just talking about the moonpool tonight." Bella said "Well I personally think this is just going to be a waste of time and Lewis is just crazy." Rikki said "Speaking of Lewis is he going to be there tonight?" Emma asked "Yes but, he.." Cleo answered "Well I think we should go for a swim before tonight. Rikki said. "The three girls got up from the booth and When Justin walked in the door. "Well here comes the new guy." Rikki pointed out "He's not that bad Rikki he's actually pretty nice." Cleo said "I'm going to try talking to him." Emma said and walked was sitting at the table reading a book. He looked up and saw her walking over to the table. "Hello, can I help you?" He asked "I saw you were new here and thought I'd say hello." Emma answered "Wait are you one of Lewis's friends?" Justin asked "Yeah, I'm Emma." She answered "oh, well nice to meet you Emma." He said and then Emma walked off. "Well who says we get ready for tonight Emma moon would be above the pool in a few minutes and the girls and Lewis were ready.

The cave was silent except for the low trickle of the water fall. Then finally the time had come the new moon rose above the volcano. The water began bubbling but, the glows were nonexistence not even a sight. "Ready" Lewis said "Ready." the girls answered and Locked hands. Then they all jumped into the pool. After ten seconds their tails appeared as usual and the glows appeared. This time instead of going up they went down into the water. Then the water turned black and a whisper echoed all through the sea cavern. Free, Free. it said "I'm pretty sure that's not supposed to happen" Emma said looking at the water then the black water flowed out the exit and everything was normal. All the dust from the crystals were gone and the marks in the pool where the crystals were harvested. "Somehow I think you fixed the moonpool." Lewis said "Can we just try to dry off and go home." Rikki said

When they were all dry Cleo began to speak. "Hey me and Lewis have an announcement to make." "What is it?" Bella said. "Lewis and I are getting Married she said "I'm so happy for you." Emma said "Well personally I think this calls for celebration

Justin sat in an office looking at a file. "Mom, Dad Whatever this was killed you now what do you mean by black water. that's about it I know missed a few question marks and put ain't in there. The question marks were accidental and ain't is a personal touch. Please review and till next time stay cool

3. episode 3

Well Last time I updated I finished up New moons Eye Personally I thought part one was better Because I didn't have to go in and completely edit that chapter because it didn't load right. But I would rather not talk about that and in honor of shark weeks 25th* anniversary on the discovery channel I have decided that what better idea for episode 3 than the shark hunter. Oh and I have no real idea on how to explain why ash is not in here but, I'm just going to use the excuse that the broke up before Emma left. Remember what I keep preaching about leaving me ideas please. Please review and I guess its time the shark hunter starts now.

Disclaimer: I do not own H2O or the endless ocean creature but, Justin is mine

The Shark Hunter

The Sun shone down on the gold coast beach that warm august morning as the Junior surf Tournament was about to get started . The café was sponsoring it because Zane said it would be good publicity especially since he was running it alone he needed business. "Hello everyone and welcome to the gold coast junior surf tournament. Now I would like to thank Zane Bennett for sponsoring the event. So please if you get a chance please stop by the café. Now let the tournament begin. The surfers began paddling out waiting for their wave among them was Elliot Gilbert. Elliot had dreamed of being a professional surfer since he was young when he was paddling out all he could think about was those long sessions with Byron when he was little. He noticed the dark shadow swimming under his board but, ignored it because he figured it was a dolphin. Then he noticed the gulls start to leave the water and quickly fly off. That made things look a little worse but, nobody paid much attention. For a few seconds the water seemed calm but, then it broke the surface and bit clean off the end of Elliot's board. Everybody looked out to see what had just happened. Emma looked out at the scene through a pair of binoculars. Emergency sirens were going off and everyone was in panic. Emma wanted to save her brother so bad yet she couldn't change on a public beach not with everyone's eyes on the water. All the other surfers were in but Elliot was still out there with his board trailing behind him struggling to make it to shore. The fin came up behind him for a second and then disappeared beneath the surface. When Elliot reached shore he passed out.

Cleo, Bella, and Will walked up to the old ware house that served as a storage facility for Lewis and Justin's work they had another building beside it which they used for work and it held their private offices. They walked through the double glass doors and saw Lewis and Justin looking at something on the table. "So I think that if we try around this side of the reef we could probably find it" Justin said before he looked up and saw the three visitors. "Hey guys how are you all" Lewis said looking up from their work good actually I was wondering do you have time to look at cake samples. "Yeah just let me finish this up." He answered "No its alright go ahead I think I have what I need anyway. Then the phone rang in Justin's office and he disappeared through the door. "So how did your dad take it when he found out you were getting married." Bella "Yeah about that." Lewis said "You didn't tell him did you?" Will said already knowing the answer "Well it's not exactly going to be easy" Cleo said in response. Then Justin rushed out of his office and threw his sunglasses on. "Where are you going?" Lewis asked as Justin was rushing out the door "There was a shark attack at the junior surf championship. A few minutes ago I'm the only shark specialist they can get at the moment so they want me down there now.

Justin walked down the beach to where the guy in the suit was standing. "Was anybody seriously hurt" He asked as soon as he reached the man. "No but the victim is very shook up." The guy lead him over to an ambulance where Elliot was sitting. "Hey kid my names Justin can you tell me anything about the shark that attacked you." He said "It was a great white and it was jet black." Justin Removed his sunglasses "Di you just say Jet black." " Yeah it was entirely black." "Okay kid you get some rest I have all I need now." He said Then Emma walked from where she was standing. "Justin did he tell you anything." She asked "Yeah were dealing with a huge jet black great white." He answered "Well since it didn't seriously hurt anybody we don't need to kill it but, we have to do something" The guy said. " Drop a tag off by my office I'll tag it and then we can track it to make sure everyone stays safe." Justin said "Ok but, be careful."

"So why does there have to be so many different flavors when it comes to cakes?" Cleo asked after about the twentieth sample. "Well personally I liked the triple Layer Fudge." Lewis said. "Yeah that one was good I think we should go with it." Cleo replied "So when are you going to tell your dad?" Will asked from across the table. "I Guess we probably should do that." Cleo answered and her and Lewis got up and left

Emma watched as Justin loaded the dart gun and chum into his small speed boat. When he finally left Emma jumped into the water and sped off after him. He Stopped about a mile off the shore of Mako island and unloaded the chum. Sharks began swarming from everywhere but, not the one he was looking for. Then like a torpedo something jumped up through the boat splitting it in half. Justin Clinging to one half managed to shoot the tag onto the sharks Huge jet black Dorsal fin. One part of his job was done now he just had to live. The shark began to push forward at the half of the boat. When it hit He slowly began to lose consciousness but not before he saw an orange tail hit the shark and then he knew something that was unknown to him before now.

Cleo and Lewis walked through the front door of Cleo's house. They saw Don and Sam sitting on the couch. Don was watching TV and Sam was reading. "We have someone to talk to you about." Cleo said "What is it pumpkin?" Don asked "Well Lewis and I have been dating for two years now and we have finally decided to get married" "I've always wanted to help my daughter plan a wedding." Sam said. Don remained silent. "Dad are you okay?" Cleo asked "Yes, Lewis is a good kid and if you want to marry him I approve.

Justin Slowly regained consciousness on a beach. When he opened his eyes he looked around and saw Emma sitting on a rock not far away. "Where am I?" He asked as he stood up. "Mako island In found you and brought you to shore." She answered "Where's your boat" He asked "Oh, one of my friends took it back to land to get some help. "I saw something before I went out." He said "it looked like a dolphin tale but, it was scaly and orange." "Really." Emma said nervously. "Yeah, normally I would pursue it but, I wouldn't want to put you in danger." He replied. "What" Emma said. "Relax Emma your secrets safe with me, Its not like you're the first mermaid I've ever seen.

Bet you didn't see that coming. Well anyway I might update again tomorrow. If you can come up with a better name for this story please tell me it desperately needs one. Please review and till next time stay cool

4. episode 4

Hello everybody out there in Fan fiction land. Views are at an all-time high so I'm happier than a pig in slop. Well anyway thank you to every body who makes sure to read my stories I'm up to 7 follows and 2 favorites now so I'm doing pretty good well remember ideas are imperative to a story. So any ideas I will try to incorporate just leave them in the content section. This especially was hard to right because of ideas. I had no idea how exactly to go off of the last chapter. But, guess who's living large and bounced backed. For once I couldn't come up with a name. Now I got it. Oh and remember in the first episode how Rikki and Bella were talking about someone getting married in Canberra. Well in case somebody didn't figure that out I was referring to Sophie and Ryan I just thought it would be funny. It s hey "us jerks got rich and are getting married yeah." Plus not to mention that guys creepy. I mean really creepy. Well anyway aside from Ryan's apparent creepiness black water warning starts now.

Finish the last shows credits and here we go

Disclaimer still don't own h2o or the endless ocean thing but, if that changes I'll let you know Justin is still mine

Black Water Warning

Last night: "How did he find out." Rikki said obviously irritated "Hey, she saved my life it's not like she just deliberately told me." Justin said back in defense. " That doesn't make it much better, we've known you about a week and you already know our secret." Rikki shot back "Rikki clam down." Cleo said trying to keep things calm. "no, for once little miss. Perfect messed up and I'm done." She said and ran off into the ocean. "Should we go after her?" Bella asked just watching as her friend ran off "She'll be back she always is."

Now: Justin was walking down the dock towards his boat. "Hey Justin wait." Justin turned around and saw Emma coming towards him. "I don't want to cause any more trouble than I already have." He said as he kept walking. "Rikki's just like that, she'll get over it." Emma replied "Ok but, I still have to go make sure I tagged that shark right." Justin said. "Well at least let me come." She said back. "Is that really such a good idea." He said "Well look what happened when you went alone." She replied and then walked towards the boat.

Cleo, Bella, and Will walked up to the cafÃ©. They went to enter but, realized it was still closed. "that's strange it's almost Noon." Will said looking at his watch. "did they finally go bankrupt." Bella said trying to figure it out. "Zane answer the freaking phone!" Nate said off to the side. "Where's Zane?" Cleo asked him " Oh, Cleo you and Lewis finally break up. Because I'm available." Nate said not answering "Shocking, and actually were engaged. Now about Zane." "I have no idea he won't answer his phone and he hasn't showed up." "I'll try calling Rikki she always seems to find him." Cleo dialed the number but, just got voice mail. "This is weird we seriously need to find Rikki"

Justin drove the boat to exactly where the radar showed the tag was. " I know I shot it on the right side of the dorsal fin. so If it is still on that's where it should be" Justin said and then dove in. As promised there was a great white. Justin then noticed that it was not completely Black. Instead it appeared just as a regular Shark would. Then he noticed the tag midway up the right side of the dorsal fin. Justin swam back up to the boat. Emma was still there waiting. "That tag is in the same spot I shot it But that shark isn't Completely black". He said. "Then is it the same shark?" Emma asked just before her phone rang. "Hey Cleo what's up okay we'll meet you at the dock." Justin had just removed his tank and scuba mask. "What's wrong?" he said "Its Rikki she's still not back and now Zane is missing." She answered "Well lets go."

The others met them at the dock. Cleo had apparently called Lewis because he was waiting too. "Any sign of her." Emma said as The boat pulled up at the dock " No." was Cleo's answer. "Where would she go if She was upset." Lewis asked "The Moonpool." Cleo said and then ran towards the water. Just as she was about to jump in the water began to bubble. Then a girl with dark black hair appeared from the waste up . The hair was different but, through the face there was no question who it was. Rikki.

"Do You really want to do that Cleo." Rikki said from the water. Her hair wasn't the only thing different her scales had become a blackish purple as well. "Rikki where have you been and, what's with all the black?" Bella asked looking down at the new Rikki "Lets just say I've seen things a different way." She said and turned to leave "Wait do you know where Zane is?" Cleo asked. Rikki just laughed and swam off.

"This is weird ever since we fixed the moonpool weird things have been happening. First there was the black water, The evil black shark, and now demon Rikki." Cleo said "Wait back up black water." Justin said "When did this happen." "The last full moon when we fixed the moonpool." Bella answered. " I know what we need to do." He said "If you can get rikki to transform in the moonpool it should fix everything." "How do you know this?" Will asked "I'll explain later." Justin answered

They all finally reached the moonpool cavern and were not shocked to find that Rikki was there and Zane was unconscious in the sand. "Rikki." Emma said and rikki turned around. "You really are stupid aren't you." She said "You shouldn't have followed me. Now face the consequences she said and then sent a huge bolt of lighting in front of where they were standing causing them all to fall. "ok if that's how it has to be." Emma said. Then cleo pulled a ball of water out of the moonpool. Next bella hardened it. Then Emma froze it. Then Cleo launched it at Rikki. The force of the blow knocked her into the pool. "Wait no, this can't happen. Then her hair began flickering between black and blonde and the water turned black. Then the water flowed out and everything was normal. "Rikki what happened?" Emma asked "Last night after I swam off I saw this whale that was all black. So I swam up to it but, when I got to it The water turned black. Then I remember it I kidnapped Zane when he was coming home. As I did it all I could think about was my anger towards him." She answered " It's okay now" Emma said "Thanks you guys for saving me." "Actually we had some knowledge that helped." Cleo said "Wait." She said and looked at Justin who had one of those how do you like me now smiles on. "Trust me yet." He said " No but, your growing on me." She replied "I couldn't ask for much more."

Cut that's a wrap. Well now Rikki doesn't hate Justin. I should be back Monday with a new episode that will be huge so you'll want to read it. Plus remember ideas are always welcome and new names this story needs one. Please review and till next time stay cool.

5. episode 5

Hello fan fiction land and all my loyal followers. I love all my readers and you can believe it. I check about 7 times a day for reviews. Oh and guest reviews are allowed until I start getting advertisements. Well as promised the end will be huge so big it will take 2 stories to contain but, we'll get to that later. Now after this I do not want angry messages/emails about this. Well here we go a game of answers starts right now.

Disclaimer you know what I own and what I don't

Game of Answers **

Night had fallen over gold coast Australia and on the beach sat a group of friends that wasn't exactly ordinary. " Ok so how did you know what to do about the black water." Lewis said looking at Justin as the embers from the small fire began slowly heating the sand. "When I was sixteen my parents were doing research near mako island. They were there trying to stop a creature they referred to as the Black Harbinger. It naturally takes the form of a completely black Humpback whale except when it is taking over a host such as rikki or the shark. Then it appears in the form of well Black water." Justin answered like he was an expert. "So how did you already know about mermaids." Emma asked looking at the boy. "My mother was one. I discovered her secret when I was young. She said that one day it would be important. My brother was an idiot he thought that the ocean was stupid. He thought fish weren't smart. He basically laughed in our face when we tried to tell him. I once met three girls. We were all thirteen. One summer we discover a pool in the center of a rock structure. As you can probably guess they became mermaids. Most of the story is happy the ending, not so much." He answered grimly "What were their names." Cleo asked ", Racheal, Brittany, and Michaela." he answered "SO wait doesn't that mean there are three moonpools in the world?" Bella asked from the log where her and Will were sitting. "Actually I believe that in all there is a total of 19 including the ones in Ireland, the out banks of north Carolina and on mako island." He said and then reached into a file he was holding and pulled out a folded piece of paper he then unfolded it and laid it in the sand to show the others. " You see this dot is directly above the spot believed to be mako island. Here above the sea caves in Ireland and here in the states." He said "So all this was in your parents old house?" Rikki asked skeptically. "I said they were experts on this kind of thing. Amazingly enough though I went with the3m everywhere except northwest territories Canada and Their final trip to gold coast Australia. That was the only year they wouldn't carry me. Now I know why.

For the rest of the time on the beach they sat and talked about random things and such. Then finally they began to go home. Finnally it was down to Justin, bella, and Will. "It really is amazing the chance that there are other mermaids. " Yes it is." Will said. "As much as I would love to go Find all the pools personally I believe it is my job to improison the harbinger. "We could go." Bella said ? "I can't ask y'all to do that." Justin said making sure to use the Carolina Drawl. "Then were volunteering." Will said "Are you positive?" He said "Yes were positive, this is something interesting." Bella answered " Ok tell your friends and say your goodbyes. I'll have everything ready by the end of the week oh and I may occasionally ask you to stop in certain locations to help find different things for me. So I need you to sign a few papers. Oh and where would you like to go first."

Justin sat the map back in the sand. "I here Venice is nice this time of year." Bella said looking back up. " I do too, and I never went there." Will said. " Then it's settled I will get the tickets to italy and call an old friend to meet you there." "What?" Bella asked confused "I have a few friends too ya know."

The End of the week

"So I wonder why cleo wanted us to come down to the caf  ." Bella asked "I don't know she seemed kind of anxious though. The two walked through the door into the dark restaurant. "SURPRISE!" Everybody yelled as the lights came on. "What is this?" Bella asked looking at all of her friends. "Your going away party." Lewis answered. "Well lets get it started."

Cleo and Lewis sat in a booth talking everyone else was dancing and having a good time. Then through the door came a familiar redhead. " So how has work been going?" she asked lewis trying to make small talk to her fianc  e. "Fine, but sometimes it can get irritating trying to find certain fish. "Hello Lewis, Cleo." The two looked up and saw the face they thought they never would see again. "Charlotte they both said. " Hello I see your still together." Charlotte sighed and said. "Yeah we are." Cleo said uncomfortably. Then charlotte looked down and saw the diamond. "What's that?" she asked Cleo "My engagement ring." Cleo answered still uncomfortable. " I'm happy for you." Charlotte said and walked off.

Brisbane airport was almost empty. The group was all there to see Bella and Will. "Well its been good." Rikki said to her friend as the two were all preparing to leave. "I'm going to miss you but, we will come back after were done. Then Justin handed them a bag and an envelope. "This is everything you'll need. In the envelope are the tickets and a mastercard with enough money to go to every country in the world and back. Oh and if you want stop in all the major cities. Ya know New York, Paris, Tokyo, etc. Remember my friend will meet you in venice." "Thank you all." They said and walked off through the gate to their flight. "Who are they meeting?" Emma asked " Lets just say someone who is broken and needs help."

Charlotte walked down the pier when she reached the end she saw a black Whale. Then seconds later the pier water turned black. Charlotte touched it. "I object to this Union

See I told you it was huge well I don't want any angry comments about Bella and Will either because I said it would take two stories. So tomorrow I will begin Bella and will around the world In 21 and a half chapter. Plus I will try and update again tomorrow. So please review remember ideas and new titles are welcome and till next time stay cool.

6. episode 6

Hello my loyal followers and fan base. Its been about a month but, I'm back. I had a tad bit of writers block but, this would be hard to keep me down for to long. On the side I have several things going so I stay busy. Plus this Is my 5th* week as a freshman and I'm still alive so yeah. I actually don't mind school. Since I know I will get a question about this my favorite subject is theatre hands down. Anyway to explain the name of the episode basically the title is no exaggeration of this story. It is full of conflict so there is only one name it could have freezing water. I want go into to much detail but this will be awesome. Well what y'all think. Well remember to review and here we go. Freezing water starts right now.

Disclaimer: You know what I own and what I don't

Freezing water

The sun had just started to appear above the horizon and light filtered into Emma's room. The sunlight dragged her out of her sleepy unconscious state. She sat up in bed and just thought to herself. Since Bella and Will had left to travel the world that left her alone with her two best friends again. She needed a way to connect with them and get things back to normal. Or at least as normal as things could get for them. When you're a mermaid you don't get to use that word. She just wondered what would have happened if she would have never left to start with. Maybe she would have been able to have some of the memories with Bella that the others did. Well that's too late to change now she thought to herself. Then she remembered something very important today was Rikki's birthday. She crawled out of bed and slowly walked down to the living room to cut on the T.V. what was up there came as kind of a shock. It was the morning news as always but, this was different.

"This morning the gold coast has lost one of the major residents who went by the name of Harrison Bennet Eyewitnesses say that he was heading out on his yacht for whatever reason when the boat just lurched and began sinking all that appeared was a massive bubbles indicating that there was an mass of heat in the water. When we asked Zane Bennet the heir to the Bennet fortune he would not comment on the matter. "Well this isn't good." Emma said to herself. She needed to be gone before her parents got up because otherwise she would spend all day at Zane's house and well five minutes with him was bad enough.

Justin sat behind his desk typing on his computer he had been trying passwords for hours and couldn't find anything then it hit him. Why had he not tried their anniversary after all this was a file saved by his mother. According to Rick it had a full detailed profile on the black Harbinger. TWELVEFOUREIGHTYEIGHT he typed in. Access Denied. 12488 He tried again. Access granted. The file had immense detail describing the whole being. Then he read something he didn't like the harbinger apparently had the ability to create mermaids except instead of using regular magic it used black magic. Something much more powerful. Now it's out roaming the seas somewhere just taking over bodies and killing people without them expecting it.

Then he had a knock on his door and he went to open it. Lewis probably had some file or something he needed and was coming to give it to him. When he opened it Zane just rushed into his office without even saying hello. "Bennet what do you want?" "I need your help." Zane replied. "Funny remember when I gave you my help last time at the surf tournament." Justin said irritated. "This is different my father was killed this morning on his yacht and I want to know why." Zane said back. "You do know I'm a marine biologist not a wreck diver right. "Your point." "Why argue with someone like you. Lewis were going wreck diving!" Justin shouted "Why?" Lewis said sticking his head in the door. "Because genius here has cash and is willing to hire us as wreck divers." "But, were not!" "I find it best not to argue with him."

Emma had everything planned out she had called Cleo earlier who was helping her with everything and the party was almost ready all she had to do was tell either Lewis or Justin to get some hamburgers or hotdogs for the party. She picked up her phone and went through the contacts and texted Justin. Can you pick up some hot dogs and burgers. A few seconds later she got a reply. Sorry me and Lewis got stuck doing a wreck report for Harrison Bennett yacht. But your not wreck divers. She texted back. I know but its better not to argue with Zane. Was the answer. "Well Cleo we have to go shopping again." Emma said putting down the phone. "Why can't the guys do it Cleo asked looking up from the magazine she had been reading. "Well they kind of got sidetracked." "How?" "Zane kind of" "I've heard enough.

"Lewis and Justin swam back up to the water surface with Zane waiting in the boat. "So what caused it to sink." Zane asked as they got in the boat. "Well obviously the metal was melted which made a hole in the boat. Causing it to sink." Justin said after taking off the mask and tank. "So wait heat did it." "I just said that." Justin replied "I know what made this happen." "Care to explain." Lewis said removing his knife from his leg. "I'll explain later.

Rikki walked onto the beach Emma had texted her telling her to come she had no idea what for though. She walked onto the beach and saw her friends sitting there. Emma was helping Justin over by the grill while Cleo and Lewis sat on the blanket looking at the night sky. "What's all this she said walking up." "Just your birthday party." Emma said looking up." "Did you guys have to remember." Rikki said and turned around to see Zane coming down the beach. "Who invited him." she said "We didn't." Cleo said "Zane what do you want." Justin said in a irritated voice. "Just here to see the girl that murdered my father." He said "But I didn't." "Save it I know what you did. Even he said it was high levels of heat that melted the metal who else can do that." Zane said pointing at Justin "Why would I kill your father." Rikki said starting to get ticked. "Maybe because you wanted to punish me for stealing those stupid rocks." Zane said "Whoa bro maybe should just leave." Justin said stepping out from behind the grill. "Fine but, we will finish this."

"No we just did."

Now aint that something well I'm going to try and have Bella and Wills around the world start tomorrow. But before we leave I just have one question Did Rikki do it? Please review and till next time stay cool.

7. episode 7

Hello my people yes it has been a while and yes I know that I have pretty much been dead on this site since the last time this was updated. Well More or less you could say that I have been resurrected. So I left you with a question at the end of the last chapter. If you don't know what it is start reading my authors notes. Well anyway the question was did Rikki do it. So did she kill Bennett or am I getting into something much deeper that's going to set us up on the plot to get to the finale. Is it me just being evil. Is it just because I want to ask you all these questions. Most likely almost all of the above. Well anyway this was my new years resolution to finish this story and I don't even believe in new years resolutions. I mean people say they want to do things every year they try it for two days and then quit about two or three days later. So yeah my goal is to finish this story and we still have a long ways to go . So anyway by now you probably still don't quite understand me which then again nobody does. So I have exams the week after next which means half days for a week so expect a chapter almost everyday that week except Tuesday and Thursday. Well anyway finish the last shows credits and here we go. The white dolphin starts right now.

Disclaimer: Not really going to bother (you know what it says)

The White dolphin

"Rikki you didn't do this did you?" Cleo asked nervously. "Cleo how could you ask that. I may not be the most honest person in the world but, I'm no criminal." Rikki replied irritated "Well as much as we believe you. Zane does make a pretty convincing point to people that believe in mermaids that is. Everyone else will probably think he's crazy." Justin Added " Justin is right what exactly is Zane going to do." Emma said. "You mean aside from ruining my life at every chance." Rikki replied "She does make a good point." Lewis added. "Then just prove you didn't kill Harrison." Justin said. "How exactly do I do that." "Well it would possibly help if you could more thoroughy examine that Yacht." "Yeah rikki you and I will go in the morning." Emma said. "I would but, I have to work tomorrow." Cleo said. "Well we should probably all get some sleep.

Justin was going down to a report of a beached dolphin. Chances were that a crew had already gotten there but, he was going anyway. When he got there he realized he was the first one there. The dolphin was obviously Albino. Justin could see several injuries on the dolphin and from where he was standing they looked like burns. An older man came down the beach and said hello. He was probably the one that reported it. "Are you the marine biologist that works with Lewis." he asked. "Yeah that's me why?" Justin asked a little surprised. "What color is that dolphin." he asked "White." Justin answered confused now. " Good you do see it. Most people just see an ordinary dolphin but, you see it as it really is. Now call in a rescue team and protect it at all costs." tHe man said and then turned and walked away. "Wait." Justin called and the man turned around. "What's your name?" "The names Max kid." He answered and just kept walking.

Emma and rikki reached their destination after a little swim. They surfaced for a second to figure out how to do this. They decided to split up and search but, in the end both came up with nothing. The two mermaids surfaced again. "so what do we do now." Rikki asked "I have no idea." Emma answered "I think we might be able to find something." Rikki said "Wait, Justin and Lewis wrote the wreck report so maybe they unintentionally wrote the answer and just missed it." Emma said "Sounds good to me rikki said and the two began to swim back.

"The poor thing." Cleo said sitting in one of the chairs they kept in the facility, eyeing the dolphin that now more or less sat at the top of the tank. "I have no idea how this dolphin got these burns but, whatever happened was painful and obviously severally hurt this dolphin." Justin said kneeling beside the tank. "Can't quite figure out what could have possibly happened to hurt that dolphin this badly." Lewis said sitting beside Cleo. They heard the door open and turned to see Rikki and Emma enter. "Any luck." Lewis asked looking over. "No" the two girls replied at the same time. "Well the boats not the only thing burned. You should see this dolphin I got a call about this morning." Justin said getting up and walking over. "Justin bring me the wreck report." Lewis said thinking. Justin went into his office and came back with the report. "This is to sloppy rikki wouldn't do this whoever is responsible didn't care if people saw it. The boat was surrounded by heat instead of just burning the section of metal until it melted. That's probably how our dolphin friend there got his injuries. So therefore rikki didn't do it." Lewis concluded. "Well I'm going to go rub this in bonnets face." Rikki said leaving. "I think Lewis and I are going to go get some lunch" This left Emma and Justin all alone. "So anything happen for you today she asked. "Well aside form the dolphin and some crazy old guy talking about the dolphins color everything was pretty normal." "That's good." "Yeah hey you like shrimp. Because I know this great place not far from here that has some of the best I've ever tasted." Justin asked "Yeah lets go."

Well everybody here is my return chapter oh and I will update every day next week so be ready. So that about wraps things up for the first half but remember its only noon on the gold coast so far things are just begging to get weird. Oh and why is max just suddenly appearing well read the next chapter which will be posted on Monday. Bella and wills will be updated later today. Oh and till next time stay cool.

8. episode 8

I'm, back jack unless your name is Jill which just doesn't fit the sentence well. Well anyway (no offense to any Jills out there.) I would like to say that I am terribly sorry about my absence. The explanation involves the letter A, The subject Biology, and the punishment Grounded. I figure y'all can figure it out. Anyway to the point. Ok so here is today's episode of sorta season 4 type thing. Now this episode is simply called up for air. Now one thing you will notice throughout this episode is that for once I am not making Zane look that bad. Then also I am following up with Emma and Justins chat over Shrimp. Plus wedding Bells are Ringing. Because you see my next chapter is going to be one of the most interesting chapters to say the least (laughing while saying.). Anyway then I am truly going to have the two part special wedding Bells. Which will pretty much make Cleos family even more minor characters then they already are. Anyway lets see what else I have to cover. Oh really nothing. Well let me just say that Im glad to be back and for the first time in six months Sorta Season 4 type Thing Up for Air starts right now.

Disclaimer= If you've read 7 chapters and don't know what I do and don't own well seek help immediately

Finish the last shows credits Up for Air starts right now.

Rikki walked into the cafÃ© which honestly wasn't very busy. You had two guys playing pool then some girl doing research on the computer but, other than that it was pretty much empty. Zane was sitting behind the counter almost shocked as he looked through papers. He obviously didn't notice Rikki had come in as he through the papers down and entered his office. He emerged a minute later looking at A file so intensely he's about to burn a hole through the paper. "I was going to come here and tell you how I have proof that I didn't kill your father ,but you seem to be acting crazy enough anyway." "Well when your forced to take over your fathers business empire when you can't even keep a restaurant open its kind of stressful. I have no idea how to manage money and my father had so much business that has to be run." "Then hire somebody to do it for you while you just be the face." "I'll pay you 20 bucks an hour." "Wait your going to hire someone to make your budgets that has no kind of degree what so ever and pay them 20 dollars an hour." "Isn't that what I just said. Now please help me." " fine ,but there is one more condition." "What is it?" " I want free juices for a year." "Fine." "And a hot tub." " Fine." "Oh and a new car." "Don't push it."

"So what's it like growing up with a parent being a mermaids." Emma asked as her and Justin are eating from a huge plate of shrimp. "Well it was interesting to say the least. You can't have pool parties even though we had a huge one. Then there was the fact that we'll I had a great teacher for diving and then later on when I met my friends it was useful. It's kind of funny really though in a joke that only the joker could make fun of. The way I thought I was useful to those girls yet it was my bloodline that hurt them." "What happened." "My family has had relations with the ocean for a long time. Sometimes though in relations that last that long you draw enemies. One of mine possessed my friend Michaela. Her powers were very uncontrollable from the start and well weren't used lightly." "When you say e menu do you mean that black harbinger thing that attacked my brother and possessed Rikki." "Almost as if you read my mind." "So what actually happened." Justin leans in and whispers something into Emma's ear. "That's terrible how long has it been." "5 years." " yet she still won't forgive herself." " that's why she's traveling the world with Bella and will. I figured if anybody could try and change her back to normal it's them. " "so how are they right now." "From what I've seen pretty good." "Oh so how is it working on the ocean everyday." "Its fun how is it being a mermaids." "Its different." "ya know I've never actually seen you swim." "Do you want to go swimming now." "Sure." Justin pays the bill and puts 100 bucks in a waiters pocket. Neither one realizes that they ate 3 plates.

meanwhile back at the restaurant Rikki is in Zane' s office looking through bills and the cafes books. "So how long has it been since you I don't know had a good business day." "How long has it been since you quit." "How have you kept this place open." "I don't honestly know." "So what really made you hire me back." " because you have great business skills." "Is that the only reason." "Ok so maybe I miss you too." "Funny every time you're angry I seem to be the source." "Honestly I haven't had a good day since we broke up. I think maybe I somehow made a connection between you and the bad things that happen to me." "That still doesn't make it right." "I know and I'm sorry." "When we broke up I loved you and well I still do which made it tough. " Rikki stands up and stares Zane in the eyes. "So if you really missed me why did you blame me for killing your father." "Something inside me just snapped." "Well glad to know that I am apparently your mental connection to all the bad things to happen." "That's not what I meant" "then prove it." Zane leans in to kiss Rikki who backs up before getting out of the office and running straight into the ocean.

Emma and Justin swam through the beautiful underworld her tail flowing so gracefully as the two didn't even attempt to separate . Emma smiled and Justin tried his best to all though the snorkel mask didn't really allow it. The ocean was alive around them as dolphins and other beautiful sea creatures swam in rhythm around the two almost as if they understood perfectly what was happening. Finally the two surfaced and looked each other dead in the eyes. "It truly is beautiful down there." Justin said "yes it truly is." Emma replied. Justin and Emma stare at each other before finally going into a kiss. The two hold it for a minute before. Finally separating. "So does this make us a couple?" Justin asked. "Yeah I guess it does." Emma said. The two resume kissing.

Cleo and Lewis are at the moonpool when Rikki swims in. "Rikki what's wrong." Cleo asked seeing that something was clearly bugging her friend. "Just Zane." She answered shrugging off the question. "What did he do this time? Lewis asked "he tried to apologize for everything while saying I was the problem." "What exactly did he say Cleo questioned. "He said that since I left nothing had gone right since I left him and he has mentally connected me to the bad things that happen to him." "Well look at it this way he did say nothing had gone right since you left and well he is angry that he can't be with you." "I think I'm going to go talk to him now. The truth is hate that we broke up too."

Rikki walked up the steps of the cafe. It was now night and the place was pretty much closed. She saw Zane sitting at a table deep in thought. "Ya know I was hurt by our breakup too." she says stirring him. "You came back." "You owe me a kiss." The two come together and kiss as we fade to black.

Well all's well that ends well right. Tommorrow is bella and will day so come prepared for that. Also I will have the next chapter up by Monday. So that's it jack (or Jill). So till next time stay cool(especially since its summer heat stroke isn't fun.)

9. Episode 9

Ok I am so sorry for making yall sit through that last chapter. Trust me I thought it sucked too. I honestly don't know what I was thinking. Well and then Bella and Wills will have A double update tomorrow since I forgot Friday and just because I made you sit through that other chapter I will put plenty of Bella and Will action or in slang Welllla action. Just so yall know I don't do the whole combining names thing. So in this chapter which I promise will be better than Thursdays then again that's not hard to do. Ok point is that chapter sucks. Now on a lighter note we are just about to have a wedding so its time for Murphy's law to come into effect. Now I call this chapter Maelstrom. Youll see why also in the next couple of chapters we are going to show more of this black harbinger and get ready for the explanation of what exactly is going on. Now in this particular episode I will continue with the new relationships a little nothing serious. So here we go Sorta Season 4 type thing Maelstrom starts right now.

Disclaimer: why waste characters

Finish the last shows credits hit the theme song and here we go.

6 years ago

Justin Held the Triton in his hand as the waves were rocking him into the wall of barrier that kept him anchored to the shore. A hand is holding out to him which he grabs and makes it to the top. We go to the top of the cliff to see three mermaids. A blond with bright blue eyes was the one who pulled him up. "hey you three thanks for saving me." "Your welcome." The one at the far end said she had light brown hair and light green eyes. "Hey I told them not to." said the one in the middle she Had black hair and ice blue eyes. "That's not nice Rachael." Said the Mermaid that had pulled up Justin. "Well Michaela I did mean it." Said Rachael in response. "You two I don't want to hear it right now." Said the one at the end which by default had to be Brittney. "So anyways what did you find." Said Rachael looking at the rusty Triton in his hand. "I don't honestly know."

Modern Day

Justin stared at the beautifully restored Triton in his hand. Its silver coat was fascinating as he left it in his office. Justin was wearing a tuxedo for the special day that had finally come. He slowly put the Triton on its perch and then shut the display case. He then walked out into his living Room where Emma stood in a beautiful white dress adjusting her Ear rings and looking just as stressed as usual. "Were going to be late." "What are you talking about we still have 6 hours till the wedding starts." "No I mean for setup." "Oh yeah well come on the we got to go." "Hang on a second." "For what." "I need to make sure my Makeups right. Justin picked up a small glass of water and went to drink saying one word. "Women." He put the glass to his lips and was confused when nothing poured out. He then looked at the cup only to see it full of Ice. Justin looks over to see Emma leaning in the door way grinning from ear to ear. "That's not funny." He said. "Care to rephrase your statement." She said making sure her hand stayed in the frozen position. "Fine I'm sorry." Emma moved her hand down ,but kept the grin. "So Do you want to make any more comments about women." "I think I'll control my tongue." Justin said. Emma disappeared into the kitchen and Justin quickly followed. Justin grabs a banana off the counter and starts eating while Emma goes through her purse. "Justin I am so stressed right now." Emma said looking at a checklist of things she needed done. "This is a good banana." Justin said back not really listening. "I mean I have tables to set, napkins to fold, gifts to get ready, make sure the buffet is set right, and get a fireworks display." She said rambling on. By now Justin has finished the banana and is just holding the peel. "So why does no one eat the peel of the banana." Justin says in his own train of thought. "So I think we should head on now." Emma said focusing. "Yeah just give me a minute" Justin says before exiting the room and then coming back with his trident. "Why do you need that thing." Emma asked looking at the item. "Louis said it would help with the ocean decor." Justin answered. "I am not sticking that thing in this set." Emma said. "Its not your wedding." "I am planning it." "He's paying you." Justin trumped with. "Fine ,but you have to hold it the whole ceremony." Emma said in an irritated voice. "Will you call me king Neptune." He said jokingly. "I might." Emma says in a flirty way. The two go to kiss ,but there is a knock at the door. Justin opens it and we see Rikki standing there in jeans and a t shirt. "Can we help you they asked." "Yeah I need a ride." Rikki answered. "Why aren't you dressed." Emma asked. "Relax EM I'll change when we get there."

The building housing the wedding was quite beautiful. There was a stunning panoramic view of the ocean which was very calm at the moment. Louis was sitting at one of the tables feeling over a ring when he sees Justin, Emma and Rikki enter. "Hey you guys are late what happened." Louis asked "ask del taco over here." Emma says looking at Rikki." Hey in my defense that was the slowest drive thru ever." "No I was at dairy queen one time as a kid that was the worst drive thru. " "Then you have the McDonald's drive thru. " Justin continued. "You two get off food." Emma said before rushing off to tell somebody what to do and exactly how to do it. "So Lewis you nervous yet." Justin said already knowing the answer. "Yeah I have been all night." Lewis answered. Then the sound of Thunder is heard. The sky slowly begins getting dark and the thunder continues. "How is this happening." Justin said "I don't know." Lewis answered. Emma emerges from a dressing room to the side. "Guys why is it storming. "I Don't know." said Lewis looking out. "It just kind of appeared." Justin said. He looks down to the trident hes holding and realizes that its glowing. "Whats up with your trident." Emma asked

5 years ago

The giant wave of Water was preparing to chrash on the beach. Justin is despraterly trying to wake up an unconcious brittany and racheal. The Wave of Water releases and we see the Trident begin glowing before we see black clouds coming out.

Modern day

"Wait I know what it does." Justin said. "What." Emma asked. "It glows whenever the Black Harbinger is around. Kind of like Sting in lord of the rings." "Me and rikki will deal with this. OK. you and lewis stay here and make sure this place stays secure." She said. They have a small kiss and then Emma and Rikki run out.

Emma and Rikki are swimming through the ocean when they are stopped dead in their tracks at what they see. There is Charlotte as a mermaid. She is almost unrecognizable. Her tail now a dark black cover all ,but her hands, neck, and head. Her eyes were now Red as she gave them an evil stare. Her usual Red hair now appeared as a dark purple. In her hand was the scary part, A Black Trident.

So thats all for today I like this chapter and it works well remember two Bella and Wills tommorow. maybe one today if I can finish ,but unlikely. in the next chapter we will continue where we left off. plus I promise that Lewis and Cleo will get married in the next chapter. I have that planned. So thats pretty much all please Review and till next time stay cool.

10. episode 10

Ok so since no one really cares why I haven't updated I'm just going to get to the point. Anyways last time we saw our girls Cleo was about to get married to Lewis. Also Rikki and Emma headed out to fight the black harbinger only to find out that it was Charlotte. Now we're here. This chapter is called Frozen. In this chapter Lewis and Cleo will get married. Plus Emma... wait I can't tell you. So finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer:if you want a real disclaimer read chapter 1

Frozen

Emma and Rikki just floated looking at the now terrifying mermaids that they had not seen in quite some time. She was quite honestly a strange sight to see. She immediately stuck out the trident and froze the two mermaids in an ice cage. Emma then shattered the two cages immediately ,but was surprised by Charlotte who touched her head with the tip of the trident. Emma began convulsing as she returned to normal. Emma struggled for a few minutes before blacking out. Rikki rushed to the side of her friend ,but instead of rushing after Charlotte raced with the injured girl over to mako island.

When Emma awoke she had Rikki standing over her waiting. "What happened" she asked while sitting up. "Rikki helped her to her feet and then spoke. "After Charlotte touched your head with that trident you changed back. You started drowning so I took you here." "Well what happened to Charlotte?" Asked Emma "She got away while I was helping you. I will track her down though. That aura it was the same one I remember except stronger. It almost felt like Charlotte understood it." Rikki replied in a somber tone. "I think I may know where she's going and if I'm right we need to hurry." Emma said before running into the water. After ten seconds though Emma stood there shocked she hadn't changed into a mermaids ,but instead remained completely normal. Emma stood there horrified. Rikki went beside her knowing the severity of the situation. "Hang on I'll go and get help Emma." Said Rikki before swimming off into the great blue.

Back at our wedding location Justin is now walking into the bridal chamber. Cleo is in there sitting in a chair in full dress. The dress was white and form fitting. She looked distressed and kept fidgeting. "Emma and Rikki haven't returned yet. Justin said to the young bride. " where are they I can't get married without my bridesmaids." I don't know they should be back by now. I hope they're okay." Then there was a knock at the door. Justin went out and before him stood Rikki. "Rikki, thank God your back. Where's Emma?" He asked. "There's been a slight problem." "Well Cleo is probably going to want to hear this so get inside."

"So wait Emma is stuck on mako island and a demon possessed Charlotte is on her way to ruin my wedding. What else can go wrong. Then suddenly there was screaming out in the lobby. Justin ran out to check and through the glass a storm was raging sending bits of debris through the beautiful glass window. That made the front wall. Justin immediately headed to back to Rikki and Cleo. "You two get out through that door and head for mako. Lewis and I will meet you there." The two girls ran out while Justin went and found Lewis. "Lewis had showed up in his boat earlier and Justin knew it was still at the dock where he had left it. Lewis was under a table trying to avoid debris. Justin got down with him. "Cleo and Rikki made it out safely and will meet us at Mako island." Justin said. "Can we even get to my boat in this." Said Lewis. "We need to at least try replied Justin making a mad dash for the side door that lead to the small peer. They made it to the small boat and fired up the engines before heading to Mako.

The small boat pulled up to the beach where Rikki and Emma stood. Justin and Lewis got out and approached the two. Emma ran up to Justin with outstretched arms. She then began crying into his chest. Neither Rikki or Lewis dared speak. They knew that if the usually proud young lady before them was crying this was real. "I can't do anything since that thing touched me. She said looking up into his cool blue eyes. "Em I will do anything I can to try and restore your powers ,but please I need your help." He said back. "Where's Cleo?" Lewis said. I bet she's in the moonpool." said Rikki "you two head up and find her I think we need a moment. Oh and by the way tell her that she can still get married today it's not what you two had imagined but my backyard has a pretty nice ocean view." After Justin was done the two walked off to the small cave that housed the Moonpool. When they had left Justin once again began with Emma. "Justin I hate this. When I was younger I would have done anything to get rid of my tail to finally lift the curse that kept me from being a swimmer I was told I may even go to the Olympics one day ,but because of a Boat trip I was forced to give it all up. Eventually I fell in love with it. The freedom that the sea brought everything about it. Now though I can't do it again." Emma said still looking deep in to his eyes. "Emma for the moment you may can't access your powers ,but you are still beautiful and kind. Your funny and smart. You have so much going for you and I believe that you can get them back just work for it like you always do." Justin said. He then kissed her and they held it for what could have been forever.

Later that day the sun was setting in the background. However the focus was on the most famous wedding phrase ever. "You may kiss the bride." Said the priest before Lewis gave Cleo a very passionate and emotional kiss. The day had started out very rough and still wasn't much better ,but there still seemed to be some hope. During the reception it was a great party. Finally though the sky got to Justin who just couldn't get his mind off Emma She was lucky and he knew it.

5 years ago

Brittany and Racheal swam in the stormy water that contained the black evil that ended the generations of Justin's family. Then the swimming figures stoped and onto the beach shore came two girls. One was Brittany and the other was Rachael. They weren't dead but close to it. Justin feverishly tried to wake them. Then he held the glowing silver trident in his hand up as he was face to face with true hatred.

Modern day

The party was over and all the guests had headed home Justin was standing in his drive way watching the last car roll away. Then he turned when Emma came from behind and slipped her hand into his. "Cleo looked beautiful tonight." She said looking up at him. "Cleo wasn't the only one." Justin said looking into her eyes. "Hey Justin if you don't mind can I stay here tonight?" "C'mon in I always could use the company and tonight you might also. So let's go get go get changed." He said before using his free hand to undo his tie. Then the two turn and walk towards the house.

so that's it for today next chapter possibly Thursday. Will center around the next day and is primarily about Emma. Lewis and Cleo are on their honeymoon and Rikki is trying to do something which I am now deciding not to tell you. Anyways right now with Emma I'm trying to take a normally proud character and kind of take her to a low point. You read her little blurb there and if you didn't your now scrolling up. So since I know someone will ask me this I will not tell you anything about that night past this point. Ok. No means no. Anyways that's all and till next time stay warm cause where I'm at its freaking cold.

11. episode 11

Hello all of my loyal readers and welcome to my update. You see I've been thinking about how this story works and all the complex mechanics behind it. Ah who am I kidding this chapter has maybe Three characters tops. So this chapter is called the abyss. For anyone who doesn't know an Abyss is an oceanic trench. Such as the laurentian Abyss. Anyways this Chapter primarily focuses on Emma and her thoughts on her powers being lost. Now before anyone hates me read my authors notes. They can help you a lot. Anyways that's enough about me finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: No I will not write a serious one.

Sorta season 4 type thing Abyss part 1 starts right now.

Abyss part 1

The night was quiet at Justin's house. He and Emma sat by the pool in the backyard. He was wearing swimming trunks with a tribal pattern and she was wearing a light blue bikini. Their feet touched the water and she rested her head on his shoulder. "This is the first time I've been able to do this since I was 15." She said. "Well I hear that you've always been the best swimmer." Justin said "well like I told you earlier I dreamed of going to the Olympics." Emma said sitting up straight and sliding to the edge of the pool. "Well I'd love to see that." he said and they both slid into the pool. They both dove under the water and met before locking hands and heading up. "How does it feel to be here with me." He said it. "It feels pretty good." Said Emma looking into his eyes. They stayed there a minute before he kissed her.

The next morning

Emma walked out into the backyard of Justin's house and just looked out over the ocean. She is joined by Justin though who puts his arm around her and pulls her in. "What's bothering you kid?" He said. "I used to go out to Mako island first thing every morning on days like this. I would stay in the moonpool every morning and just think. I would think about everything I have and what I would do. Now though I can't." She replied. "How about I try and take your mind off this." He said. "How do you plan on doing that." She said. "How about I take you to work with me today." He replied "What exactly Will I do?" She asked "I have no idea ,but having you there with me may make you forget your troubles." He replied. "Fine ,but you are showing me that white dolphin." "Oh you mean flipper. Sure by the way I'm bringing the Trident with me I think it is best served at my office as opposed to here." Justin said. "How did you get that thing anyway?" Emma said. "I'll tell you later trust me this thing has given me great misery."

Rikki swam through the ocean searching. She was hunting Charlotte down and would stop at nothing to find her. Even though her and Emma didn't always get along she couldn't stand how this was effecting Emma. Rikki had been searching since Sun up and it was now noon. She knew that it was hopeless though and finally headed back to the cafe. Since her and Zane had gotten back together she had started helping him run things again. However on the way back ahead of her Rikki saw the same black water that seemed to haunt her. Rikki immediately swam in and began boiling all of the water. However what happened was what she didn't expect. There was no Charlotte. Just the black water that ominously followed her around. Rikki was shocked though when the ice began to form around her. She began melting it ,but to no avail. She expected Charlotte to have been her attacker however she was mistaken. instead she saw someone she had hoped to never see again._ Sophie._ Rikki struggled for several minutes while the center of some of her greatest hatred approached. What was going on she thought why does Sophie have a tail and why is she freezing the water. Rikki tried to free herself ,but Sophie was lowering the temperature faster than she could melt the ice. Rikki was in deep trouble and she knew it.

Sophie circled the trapped mermaid. Her black tail powerfully pushing against the waves. Some of her scales were purple and they formed intricate patterns. Her usual bright red hair was now very dark and menacing. Unlike Charlotte however she held nothing in her hands. She swam in and out hitting the ice that contained Rikki just to stir her up. Finally though she ended it in a way that was unexpected. Sophie one Rikki needed to breathe and she wasn't quite finished with her game yet so she stopped fighting Rikki' s powers and let her melt the ice. Rikki raced to the surface and gasped for air. She finally caught her breathing up just to get ripped back down by Sophie. This time Sophie surrounded Rikki with a circle of boiling water. Rikki being better at this power. Fought back and embraced the heat using it against Sophie before making an escape.

"So you said that you would tell me the story of how you got the trident." Emma said. "That I did." Justin said. " It all started when I was 16 and with the three mermaids friends I told you about Brittany, Racheal, and Michaela. We were down at the beach one day while waiting for something to do when I saw This shining rod protruding from the rock wall that made up the cliffs around where we were. So the waves are hitting the cliff and bouncing back while I scooted along a narrow ledge. When I finally reached the trident I wondered how hard it would be to remove from the rock. It was strangely easy. I then climbed back up and I've held on to it ever since. Once one of my friends was possessed by the harbinger and I had to raise it against her. She injured her friends in the process with her incredible yet destructive power. She's never truly forgiven herself." Justin finished thinking deeply as he heard flipper splash in the background. "What happened to her?" Emma asked intrigued. "She's showing Bella and Will around the world." He replied "Why would yo send her to be their guide?" Emma asked confused. "I'm hoping they will remind her of all the fun having powers is." Justin answered. Justin then looked down at the trident he had set right next to the Dolphin tank was glowing Brighter than ever before.

"Hey Emma this is weird." Justin said picking it up and holding it. When it did it immediately pointed to the dolphin who was now glowing. The dolphin then began swimming quickly around the pool. The two just looked on in shock at what was happening. Justin immediately knew what this meant from his parents notes. This was the white saviour. Justin was about to explain this when the door busted open and Rikki walked in., "Guys we may have a problem."

Ok everyone that chapter wasn't quite what I initial intended to ,but that was harder than I thought. So this is the product. Now in this you have been introduced to Sophie as Rikki' s counterpart and learned about the white dolphin. Please review and if you have an idea for a chapter please PM it to me and if I like it I'll use it. Thanks for reading and until next time stay cool.

12. episode 12

Hello my loyal fanfiction viewers and welcome to a new Chapter of sorta season 4 type thing. Ok so yesterday I presented part 1 of The abyss and in it things got strange ,but because I want those who didn't actually read to go back and read it I'm not going to give a previously on sorta season 4 type thing. Remember I'm the guy who hasn't wrote a real disclaimer since the second chapter. Now anyways In part two we go more in depth on the white saviour and why in the world there is a second harbinger possessed girl in Sophie. You should have read the last chapter if you didn't want the spoilers oh and since I'm a jerk were going to drop in on Lewis and Cleo along with a certain friend of ours.(If only I was being that nice.) Truthfully though we're going to have an interesting chapter which is sure to be action packed. So finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: did you not read the authors note I don't write real disclaimers. Sorta season four type thing Abyss part 2 starts right now.

Abyss part 2

"So wait you saw a possessed Sophie as a mermaids who froze you and then released you just before you died." Emma said trying to process everything she had been told. "She seemed crazy powerful though even more so than you have ever been with your freezing powers. " said Rikki. "I don't get this,"said Emma,"how can there be two people controlled by the harbinger at once." "I know this is just an idea ,but this thing feeds on pure hate. Maybe Its found enough hate to support itself In two bodies. I think when you fixed the Moonpool you unknowingly released the harbinger and him." Justin said pointing at the dolphin behind them. "What do you mean and him?" Said Rikki confused. "I believe that he is the white saviour. A counterpart to the harbinger. I noticed that my trident was glowing when I put it next to the tank. So that's what came to mind. I believe that the trident I hold in my hands is the opposite of the one that Charlotte used on Emma yesterday." "So if it is could it possibly restore my powers." Emma asked now looking intrigued. "Possibly ,but I'm not positive. Plus you would have to have a mermaid that could command It and from what I was reading in my arents notes there isn't one." Justin answered. "Well I had that harbinger thing posses me why cant I control this." Rikki asked a little irritated. "The harbinger doesn't need commanding because it commands it's host. This though is almost the power of the ocean. If it's possible for a mermaid to control it they would have to be the strongest mermaid ever." "I think we need to figure everything out. There is still another strange mermaid jacked up on that black harbinger thing and we need to stop her."

Cleo and Lewis walked down the beach holding hands. They seemed happy to be together and were just glad to be alone. The previous days events had shaken Cleo and she needed to get away for a few days while everything calmed down. Lewis was just glad to be with his wife. The two had headed down to Sydney and were enjoying things. The day was perfect. "I love you." Cleo said talking to Lewis. "I love you too." He said looking back at her. "What do you want to do today." He said. "I don't care as long as we're together." He said turning and kissing her. "I wish this morning would never end." She said. "I know." Said Lewis holding Cleo close. Then things went wrong in the distance there was thunder rolling which broke the two lovers moment. They both looked out over the ocean and saw the black clouds approaching ominously. The two knew what this was and they hated it. "How dare she do this. First she interrupts our wedding and then tries to ruin our honeymoon. Why can't she just leave us alone." Cleo said furiously. "I don't know , but this has to stop." He said. Come on we need to get back to the hotel before she gets here." "No, I'm going to go face her and get this over with." Cleo said before running and diving into the ocean. Lewis immediately grabbed his phone and dialed it.

Justin, Rikki, and Emma were at Justin's house looking through things trying desperately to find anything that may help face Sophie or learn to control the saviour. They dug through all kinds of boxes and chests. "They were currently in the bedroom when Rikki noticed something on the bed. It was Emma's dress from the wedding. "Hey Emma, why is your dress here." She asked curiously. "Oh, I spent the night here last night." Emma said nervously. "Oh really, give me the details." Rikki said. "Yeah that's not going to happen." Emma replied looking serious. "What as perfect as you are you I want to know how..." Rikki said before being interrupted by Justin from the living room." Hey guys I think I found something we can use." The two walk out into the living room with Rikki giving the I will ask more later smile. They walked into the living room and saw Justin sitting on the couch. He had a file turned open and was carefully reading over it. "It says here that the harbinger can grant the basic mermaid powers to its host except ten fold. The behavior changes are made by bringing out by bringing out the hosts inner most hatred. You've told me the history between the you and this Sophie chick Rikki I think this could be why the harbinger took over her. " Justin said. Then Justin's phone rang. "Lewis" he said looking at caller ID and then answer. "Hello... oh I see... Well we have a bit of a problem of our own... yes it involves the harbinger and Sophie... Ok we need to keep in touch bye." Justin said before hanging up the phone. "What is It." Emma asked looking on concerned. "Charlotte has showed up in Sydney and Cleo has gone out to face her." Said Justin. "I think Cleo has the right idea. I'm sick of sitting around I'm going to go take out Sophie. " said Rikki before running to the door and trying to open it only to realize it wouldn't. Upon further examination she realized it was frozen shut. Then Justin and Emma raced over and tried to find the door ,but realized they couldn't. "Well Rikki why are you so enthusiastic. It was only an hour ago that I almost killed you." Said a voice from behind. They turned to see Sophie or the gothic nightmare Sophie which would be a better term. She wore a leather jacket with a black shorts and black jeans. Her combat boots made a distinct sound as she walked Into the room. "So Rikki you ready for round two." She said slowly approaching.

Cleo raced through the ocean Charlotte had ruined her life one to many times and now she had to pay for it. The brunette was swimming faster than she ever had before. When she saw the black water she immediately paused. She knew what had happened to Emma and she wouldn't let that happen to her. So she Turned the black water into a whirlpool. The whirling water pushes Charlotte out in time for Cleo to shove her back with her powers. "Hello Cleo." She heard in her head. "Get out of my head you witch." Cleo thought. "Why Cleo so you can get back to Lewis. You know that should be me who had the lavish beach wedding and got the great honeymoon. Instead though you got him. He deserves better than you. I will see to it that he gets it." Charlotte' s voice said. "Why are we still fighting over this. Lewis has already told you he loves me more can you really not accept that." Cleo thought. "No I cannot because I love him not you. Came Charlotte' s voice before Cleo got hit hard from behind. She turned around to see Charlotte coming at her with the trident. Then Cleo dodged to the side and sent a burst of water to shove back Charlotte. This didn't work long though as a bunch of bubbles formed in the water around her. Charlotte was trying to boil the water around her. Cleo raced out only to get hit with the butt of the trident. Cleo recovered in time to see the tip coming towards her forehead. This time she shot all the water she could at Charlotte . This sent the evil mermaid out of the water and back a few feet yards. Cleo shot through the water though and turned at the last minute smacking Charlotte with her tail. This caught Charlotte off guard and dazed the mermaid while Cleo sent as much water at Charlotte as she could. This time though Charlotte moved and created a block of ice which she shot at Cleo. This hit Cleo in time for Charlotte to come back with a charge of her own however she ran straight into a smack from Cleo' s tail. This knocked Charlotte off and she stopped fighting. "Cleo McCartney you've won this round ,but you will meet the same fate as your blonde friends." Said the voice of charlotte before the black water surrounded her. Finally the water cleared and Charlotte was gone ,but not without leaving Cleo one more thought. "We will meet again and I will get Lewis in any way possible."

Rikki faced the gothic nightmare that was Sophie. Sophie had that cocky grin on her face that always made Rikki want to punch her in the mouth. "So what do you think ,huh, the fact that I am now even better than you are." Sophie said. "When Ms Watson approached me with an offer to take you out I just couldn't resist." "You should have stayed in Canberra with that boy toy Ryan." Rikki replied. "Well what do I say, I just love ruining your life. How's Zane by the way. You think he would like the whole evil chick look." Said Sophie. "After I'm done with you we'll see how well you pull off the chick with a black eye look." Rikki replied challenging Sophie. "Do you really think you can defeat me. The only reason your even still alive is because I allow it." Sophiesaid before turning her attention to Emma. " You though you must be the one who lost her powers. Shame really I would have like to faced you too." "No you won't I will get my powers back and I will stop you." Emma replied. "Of course you will." Sophie said mockingly. "Now Rikki I believe my business here is to finish you off. After all Emma can't use her powers, and Charlotte has gone after Cleo so that leaves you." She then moved her hands and formed a ball of water using the moisture in the air. Then she lobbed it at Rikki who moved out of the way. Justin and Emma were on the other side of the room and then Justin got an idea. He could see the trident where he had left it. Justin grabbed it and spoke quietly to Emmace t ." I'm going to get this to Rikki. This is a small portion of the saviour power and if I'm right it may be just enough where it won't take her over." Justin could see that Rikki had resorted to use of physical violence to make up for the lack of projectile like powers. Finally though after Rikki had knocked Sophie off balance Justin handed Rikki the trident. When she took it the power in the room was unbearable and the light was blinding. When it was gone there stood a rather unfamiliar Rikki. Instead of her usual punk look she wore a white jacket with an aqua shirt and white pants. Her hair was now braided and appeared almost white. She stuck her free hand out as she usually did when using her powers and the whole room began heating. Rikki was manipulating the moisture just as Sophie had this caught Sophie off guard and as the heat became Unbearable she began falling to her knees. Then though the power began to get to Rikki as she wavered. She pointed the trident at Emma and signaled for her to approach. Emma did and when she got close Rikki touched the trident to her forehead. This Rikki dropped the trident and passed out returning to normal as she did. At that moment Emma just stood there as Sophie got up. "Well Blondie looks like it's just you and I left. How about I make this quick huh. I know you can't do anything." She taunted. "You couldn't be more wrong." Emma said turning and facing her. When she did room instantly got colder. Then Emma spoke and you could see her breath as she did. "You said earlier you wanted to face me now you have the chance." Emma said. "I think I'll pass this once Sophie said. Forming a cloud of darkness and then disappeared. Justin then approached Emma and spoke as the temperature began returning to normal. "So I take your powers are back. He said pulling her in. "Yeah and I hope the witch that took them from me has been dealt with as well." Emma replied. Then Rikki began to stir. "Oh God, what happened in here and why is it so cold."

Cleo returned to where she had left Lewis on the beach. He was still there as Cleo approached. After defeating Charlotte she went to a secluded part of the beach and dried off. When Lewis saw her coming he got up and ran towards her. When they met they hugged. "Are you all right?" He asked concerned. "Yeah I am. Charlotte is still on this obsession over you. She thinks I don't love you and wants to take you from me." Cleo said. "Well that will never happen. Now the day is still young so where would you like to go." Lewis asked. "I don't really care." I just want to be together." She answered and they kissed.

well guys what did you think. I personally enjoyed this chapter. So anyways this is the longest chapter I have written yet. So thanks for reading. Please review and till next time stay cool. (Ya know cause Emma kind of froze the room.):

13. episode 13

Hello fanfiction friends, associates, and people who are bored and want a good story. Welcome to sorta season 4 type thing. Now in this chapter we skip ahead to where Cleo and Lewis are back. Now remember in chapter 7 how Max showed up and talked to Justin well that has nothing to do with this chapter ,but it will be important. Now there could be no other name for this chapter other than Caroline and in a minutes you'll know why. I was actually just sitting in class thinking up how exactly I wanted to work the last 13 chapters and this is what I came up with. Now since the last four chapters have focused around the Harbinger I decided I was tired of writing the word so I wrote a filler chapter. Remember Elliot, you know Emma's brother almost got eaten by a shark in chapter 3. Anyways since I don't want to ruin the story for you finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: oh you were expecting a real one sorta season 4 type thing Caroline starts right now.

Caroline

The Sun shined down on Gold coast Australia that day. Justin and Emma sat on the beach watching as Elliot paddled out into the ocean. This was his first time in the water since the surf tournament that ended in shark attack and he was ready. Elliot paddled out and a wave came in and he began riding it. "I'm glad he's finally back out there. I wasn't sure he would after the shark." Emma said. "Well, I'll give it to your brother, the kid's tough." Replied Justin. They saw him ride the wave in and stand up. He was then approached by a young girl. She appeared to be about fourteen and was quite attractive. She had long brown hair that flowed down her back. She wore white shorts and a light blue tank top. "Who's the girl?" Justin asked curiously. "I don't know but I think we should find out." Emma said. "Let the boy have his fun." Justin said laying back in the sand. "Lay back if you want ,but I'm going to find out who she is." Emma said before getting up and walking over to the two. "Hey Elliot, whose this?" Emma said in her nosey tone. "Oh, Emma this is Caroline." Elliot said introducing the girl. "Hey you must be Emma. " said Caroline moving her sunglasses off her face and onto her forehead to reveal beautiful green eyes. "Yep that's me. So Caroline how do you know Elliot?" Asked Emma. "Well I met Elliot at school one day when he helped me pick up my books after I tripped. Clumsy me." She answered in a very sweet tone. "I'm carrying her out to dinner this evening." Said Elliot proudly. "Well good for you two." Said Emma. "Okay, well I really need to get going. It was nice meeting you Emma." She said. "Hey see you tonight Elliot said before going to hug Caroline. Caroline however backed up and said , "see you tonight I'll hug you when your dry." "What was that about." Emma said. "She probably just didn't want to get wet. No big deal." Said Elliot. "Yeah let's go with that" Emma said before walking over to Justin. "So how was the girl?" Justin asked. "Her name's Caroline and I think she's a mermaid." Emma said. Justin who was drinking from a bottle of water did a spit take. "What?" He said. "Why on Earth do you think that?" "Well because she backed off when Elliot tried to hug her while wet." Emma said. "Maybe she didn't want to get wet." Said Justin. "There going on some date tonight I think maybe to the cafe." Emma said before getting that scheming smile and looking at Justin. "Whatever it is no. I will not spy on your brother during his date with that girl." Justin said. "Ok that's why I have Cleo and Rikki." Emma replied. "Just don't get caught." Justin said. "Oh I won't." Emma said slyly.

"Emma there is no way I am helping you spy on your little brother during his date." Rikki said standing behind the bar at the cafe. "Why not?" Asked Emma. "Maybe because it's intrusive and quite honestly rude." Cleo said sitting on the stool beside Emma. "I know your not talking." Emma said. Cleo just kind of shrugged and began to continue drinking her smoothie. "Anyways, I don't want to be responsible for what goes wrong tonight." Rikki said. "Besides, why do you want to spy so badly?" "I think Caroline might be a mermaid." Emma answered. "Ok I always knew you were crazy. Now I know you are. Why on Earth would you think she's a mermaid?" Rikki asked. "Well, when we were at the beach earlier e Elliot had just got out of the water and went to hug her ,but she backed away." Emma answered. "Maybe she didn't want to get wet." Zane said walking behind the counter. "Exactly Emma, let's face it your just trying to find some reason for your brother not to date her." Rikki said. "Hey isn't that them now?" Zane said. Looking at the door as Elliot and Caroline walked in." " Well Emma don't stick around and try to prove it while he's on his date. Trust me you and I both know you wouldn't want to be turned into a mermaid during a date." Rikki said. "As a matter of fact I'm pretty sure you were." Zane added. Then a guy was walking when he tripped spilling his water all over Caroline. Caroline then raced over to the bathroom. "See, that's exactly what I would do." Emma said. "Yeh you and a hundred other girls who just hate getting wet." Rikki said. "Look Emma I know your over protective ,but this is crazy." "Fine I'll worry about this later ,but I still think she's a mermaid." Emma said. "Of course you do." Rikki 'replied. Emma then left the cafe and Elliot approached the bar. "Hey uh Zane, can you give me any advice." He said. "Yeh, what do you want to know?" Zane asked. "Well I really like this girl ,but I'm not entirely sure. How to do the whole dinner thing." Elliot said. "Just talk to her like a friend. Be funny, not vulgar but funny. Then just be cool don't think about it like a date." Zane answered. "Ok I can do that." He said and then Caroline came back and stood beside him. "Hello Elliot, who are your friends here?" "This is Zane , Rikki, and Cleo. "He answered gesturing to each of them as he said there name. "Hello , I'm Caroline." She said. "Well Caroline it's nice to meet you." Said Cleo. "Nice to meet you all too."

The night air was cool as Elliot and Caroline walked out of the cafe. "I had a good time tonight." She said. "Yeah me too." Replied Elliot. "I really think we should do this again sometime." "I would like that." She said. They were just walking when Caroline stepped in a mud puddle. She immediately panicked and after ten seconds fell forward. There on the ground laid a mermaid. She immediately panicked and started trying to get to the water. "Elliot ,I'm sorry you had to see me like this. Just please don't tell anyone." She pleaded. "Don't be sorry I think it's kind of awesome." Elliot answered. "Really." She said. "Yeah, I really do." He said. "Well can you at least help me get in the water?" She asked. Elliot immediately helped push while Caroline rolled. "Thank you." She said when she finally did get in the water. "Do you want to swim together." She asked. "Yeah I would like that." He said.

well everybody nothing insanely complicated. This may or may not be important later. (Yes it will be important later.) When you think about this chapter though could I really name it anything else. Anyways I actually thought this was an okay chapter. Not my best ,but still better than Chapter 8. So I'm still not quite sure what I want Caroline' s power to be so im going to leave it up to my loyal readers. So please review and if you know what you want the power to be put it in the review. Thanks or reading and till next time stay cool.(it's so cold here I feel like I'll never get warm.

14. episode 14

Hello my fanfiction readers now I am finally on summer break and I am going to finish this story. So here we go this chapter Is called oil and water. Now anyone who knows anything about oil and water knows they don't mix. Can anyone guess where I'm going with this. Anyways I don't really have much to say in this author's note. Other than that I am enjoying writing this. Truthfully I always have. Finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: **

Not happening this time. sorta season 4 type thing oil and water starts right now.

Oil and water

It was about nine o'clock at night in gold coast Australia. Emma and Justin were on the couch watching a movie. They sat there watching as the credits rolled and the movie ended. Justin then cut off the TV and sat up. "That may have been the worst movie I have ever seen." Emma said. "You actually watched it I zoned out around the part with the stoner in Yellowstone," Justin replied. "The worst part was probably when the earthquake just randomly goes through the one place that the mom is out of everywhere in Los Angeles," Emma said "I don't know their little driving expedition where they magically avoid all that debris and cars without any effort was a bit much too." Justin said. "Well," Emma said, "the part about the crappy authors book being read by the presidents daughter at the end just to show that her and that other guy are a couple now was kinda stupid." "Then you really expect me to believe that they built those giant ships in just two years." Justin added. "Or how about the fact that they gave you so many reasons to hate his ex-wife's husband." Emma said. "Well I think this is proof enough that next time Lewis and Cleo recommend a movie we just pretend to watch it." "Now that I can agree with." Emma replied. "So what do you want to do..." Justin started before being cut off by the door bell. "Did you invite anybody." He asked. "No can't say I did." Emma replied. "Well..." Justin was once again cut off by somebody repeatedly pressing the button. "I'm coming." Justin screamed as he headed over to the door. The ringing stopped when Justin ripped open the door to reveal a young man about 18. He was around five six and wore glasses. He had on a plaid button up shirt which was open to reveal a minecraft t-shirt. He had on red pants and wore blue converses. Emma then came up from behind and stood beside Justin. "What are you doing here?" Justin asked already annoyed. The guy however was looking at Emma. "Hey you're pretty hot. Justin, you have a pool right I would love to see how she looks in a bikini. After all I've always had a thing for blondes. Then again though Justin here always has too." The guy said making Emma repulsed. "Jacob why are you here?" Justin said about to bust a blood vessel. "I just came to visit and well I wasn't sure about the best hotels here so I just figured I would crash with you." Jacob answered. "Well I would really like it if you would get lost." Justin replied. "Well, is that anyway to treat your little brother." Jacob returned. "Brother," Emma said shocked. "Huh" Justin sighed. "Emma this is Jacob, Jacob this is ..." "Oh you don't have to do that I've already met this fine lady." Jacob said cutting off Justin. Emma just rolled her eyes. "So Jacob how long are you going to be here." Justin said "oh, just tonight and tomorrow." Jacob replied. "Maybe by then I can get to know miss Emma here." "Its going to be a long day." Justin sighed.

Cleo was resting in the Moonpool that as the slow crescent moon came over the Crystal water. She couldn't sleep. Lewis was in bed an hour ago. She'd been doing this for about a week though. Every night she would wait for Lewis to fall asleep and then around midnight she would sneak out and come here. Sleep denied her. It had ever since she ended up in a fight for her life against charlotte on her honeymoon. She had heard Justin say plenty of times that the harbinger fed on people's innermost hatred. It scared her. What would Charlotte be willing to do to get Lewis away from her. She knew that deep down Charlotte would be willing to do anything, but Cleo hated admitting it. Cleo wasn't surprised when she heard the water behind her move. The same thing had happened at this time every week. She turned to see the blonde mermaid come up out of the water. "Hello Rikki." She said "Cleo." Rikki said propping up on the edge of the pool. "Its quiet tonight." Cleo noted. " it is isn't it." Rikki replied. "Zane know you've been coming here?" Cleo asked. "Does Lewis know about you?" Rikki asked. "I didn't think so." Cleo replied. "So how are you and Zane doing?" Cleo asked. "Pretty good." Rikki replied, "he pretty much treats me like a queen." "Sounds nice." Cleo said. "Its a little two much. I don't need all the money ,but it is nice to have." "Well I would settle for a little peace on this whole Charlotte ordeal." Cleo said. "Look Charlotte is completely nuts. She also apparently has corrupted people with this harbinger of hate. Now if I'm right she's getting ready to pull something just a little crazy. I think we can stop her though." Rikki said. "Do you really think so." "Hey I do."

Justin and Emma had unwillingly agreed to show Jacob around town. "So I've got to ask of everybody you could have chosen why did you choose him?" Jacob asked. "Because I wanted to." Emma answered more than a bit annoyed. "So I would still like to see you in that bikini." Jacob said. "I'm sure you would." Justin said. The group then made it to the cafe. They were seated and then went to go order. At the counter was holly a high school junior who Zane and Rikki had hired to keep the shop while they were busy doing other things. She was small only about five two. She was thin and had light brown hair which she tended to keep in a ponytail. Jacob was first to order. "What can I get you?" She asked. "Girl you are looking good. " He said. "Why thank you now would you like to order something." "Just a date with you." He said. "I have a boyfriend." Holly replied. "Oh come on he doesn't have to know." "Get lost." She said "will you get lost with me?" He said ticking her off more. "Look im not interested." She said. "That's what they all say." He replied. "I bet." She said with an attitude. "Now look I think your good looking and just want to spend time with you." He said. "Leave me alone you jerk." "Hey I just..." He started to say before Holly slapped him and stormed off. "Well congratulations you just ticked her off and she slapped the taste out of your mouth." Justin said laughing. "You know what maybe it was a mistake coming here." Jacob said "What do are you talking about." Justin said. "Dude, you move out here on the other side of the planet leaving the rest of us behind. All I've ever wanted was to have a brother who actually accepts me for who I am and actually wants me around." Jacob answered. "Ok, I didn't know you felt that way. Look I get it your not happy that I left everything back home ,but I love it here this is home my friends, my job , the ocean,my fiancée." Justin said. "I'm not your fiancée." Emma said confused. "Would you like to be." Justin then pulled a ring out of his pocket. "Emma Gilbert I can't imagine being with anyone else. So I just wanted see if you would marry me." "I would love to." she said. "Awesome your getting married that's great now I can bring the whole family in." Jacob said. "That's great when's your flight." It takes off at 7:30." Jacob answered. "Oh well it's 6:30 now you should probably get ready." Emma said. "Ok hey I'm going to miss seeing your pretty face." He said. "So are we cool now bro." Justin asked. "The were cool." Jacob said before leaving. "I swear if he would've hit on me one more time." Emma said. "Oh well let's go find holly and tell her he's gone."

well everybody there you have it we had crazy brothers, engagement and fears revealed. Now some of you may have noticed the allusion at the beginning of the chapter. Now from here on in every chapter I'm going to put an allusion in there. So the first person to tell me the movie they were talking about will get to pick my next allusion to pop culture. Please do not put what you want it to be in the response I will pm the first person and ask. So please review and try to solve and till next time stay cool.

15. episode 15

Hello readers of this story and other variously assorted writers. Welcome to chapter 15 of 20. That's right guys I'm going to do 20 chapters. Originally the plan was to do 25 ,but half the chapters weren't all that important so I cut them. Now here we have a two part chapter which will get us back in the swing of things with you know the spirit of hatred. Part 1has been creatively deemed heads... I guess you can figure out what the other half is. Now remember that Caroline girl who I hinted(flat out told you) would be important later. Well guess what time it is. So anyways this is about Emma trying to establish a relationship with her brothers girlfriend (who if you bothered to read happens to be a mermaid) by hanging out with her for a whole day. Now how many things about two mermaids who don't know about each other can go wrong. It can't be that many right. Are you kidding I'm writing this finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: in the immortal words of Dean Ambrose (if you don't know who that is look him up) Nope. Sorta season 4 type thing Heads... starts right now.

Heads...

The Sun was rising over the gold coast as Emma took her morning jog. She always did this every morning to stay in shape. She wore a baby blue track suit with white jogging shoes and she had her blonde hair pulled back in a ponytail. She ran down the sidewalk quietly singing along with her iPod. She ran by the beach when she saw two familiar faces sitting on the rocks. One of them was her brother Elliot. The other was his mysterious brunette girlfriend Caroline. Emma was never quite sure about Caroline. Her brother however seemed to think of her as a queen. Emma approached the two who were two busy talking and watching the sun rise to notice anything. "Hey guys how are you doing this morning." she said walking up the beach to meet the two. They turned and faced her. "Hey Emma how are you doing." Elliot replied. "I'm fine ,but I believed I asked you the same question." Emma said. "Oh were great." Said Caroline. "So do you two have any plans for today?" Emma asked. "Unfortunately no. I have to work today." Elliot said. "Oh well that's to bad." Emma replied sympathetically. "Hey I've got an idea." Elliot said "Since I'm going to be busy today why don't you and Caroline get to know each other." At first Emma wasn't to sure ,but not wanting to be rude agreed. "If Emma's okay with it then so am I." Caroline said. "Well then it's set. You two have a great time." Elliot said before running off. "I really am lucky to have found someone that great." Caroline said watching him run off. "Trust me girl he says he's the lucky one." Emma said. The two began walking away ,but in the distance someone was watching. She was more leather clad than usual. Her hair no longer being its usual brown ,but instead black with red highlights. She lowered her sunglasses and spoke to herself."So I see you're not alone. This will be fun Emma. This will be fun."

Emma and Caroline walked into the cafe. Rikki was at the counter working while Zane was busy trying to fix some of the equipment on the stage. Emma walked up to the counter. They sat down and just started talking. "So Caroline what do you and Elliot do together?" Emma asked. Caroline thought for a minute before answering. "Swim mostly. We both love the water. So I hear you used to be quite the swimmer. Is it true?" Caroline asked curiously. Emma sighed quickly before answering. "Yes it's true." "Well why did you stop." Caroline asked. Emma was very quiet for a minute thinking exactly how to answer this. "Always remember that things change. Sometimes it's for the best. Sometimes it's for the worst. At that time in my life I was the best you could find ,but a couple of changes made me have to walk away." "This change, was it for the best or worst?" Caroline asked. "Well at first it seemed to be for the worst. Trust me I lost a lot of time with people I cared about. The thing is now I realize that it was a blessing in disguise." Emma answered. "Oh I can understand that I've had something very similar." Caroline said. "So," Emma said changing the subject "what would you like to do today." "I don't know I don't really have a preference." Caroline replied. "Well how about the marine park Cleo has a show that starts in about half an hour and my fiancée is doing some work at their shark exhibit today." Emma suggested. "Fiancée?" Caroline said. "How long have you been engaged." "Since last night." Emma answered putting her ring on display. "Its nice." Caroline said. "So what do you think would you like to go to the marine park?" Emma asked again. "I don't know." Caroline said "I don't like water very much." "You'll be fine trust me I hate getting wet just as much as you do." Emma urged. "I thought you said you used to be a swimmer." Caroline said confused. "Remember what I said about changes." Meanwhile sitting a couple tables away listening to the two having a conversation Sat the mornings stalker. "So little miss perfect has a problem getting wet. I wonder why." She said before laughing.

The marine park was cheering wildly after Ronnie was finished. Cleo had truly done a great job training that dolphin. It was at this point that the two were walking by the water. "So she can't swim." Caroline said in disbelief. "No, as a kid Cleo almost drowned and she's always been scared of water." Emma said. "So how did she train that dolphin." Caroline asked. "Emma smirked while answering. "She had a little help." It was at this moment that the one thing Emma didn't expect to happen happened. A ball of water hit her in the back of the head soaking her. She jumped over the railing and into the water that led to the open ocean. Caroline while shocked at this turn of events immediately knew what was going on. She then wasted no time going in after her.

Emma was racing through the ocean she had no idea what was going on or how she would explain this to Caroline. As Emma was racing she suddenly felt her head hit something hard. It was as if being hit by a truck. Emma then blacked out. Emma awoke on the shore of Mako island. She had a splitting headache while she spit out seawater. She then realized that she had legs again. When her head cleared her first thought was how did she get here. "So little miss perfect has finally woke up." Came a voice. Emma knew this voice all too well. She attempted to sit up ,but the black boot on her throat changed her mind. "Miss. Gilbert, might I speak a word in your ear." Said Emma's stalker looking dead at her. Emma could hardly recognize her ,but she knew who this was. "Your going to anyway...Miriam."

So everybody how many of you saw that coming. You see I just knew there had to be three counterparts. Right, I mean come on ok now my allusion wasn't as obvious today ,but it was actually what Miriam said. It's a reference to a play. You tell me the play I let you pick the next allusion. Please review(no really I mean it) and until next time stay cool.

16. episode 16

hello people who are actually still reading this story. Welcome to chapter sixteen of sorta season 4 type thing. Now here we are going to finish up that last little debacle. This chapter I have creatively named ...or tails. As if none of you saw it coming. Plus let's see here the reason for the first part being heads is it shows Caroline and Emma interacting as humans. So this one is tails for well obvious reasons. Pretty much we will continue from Emma being attacked by Miriam who may or may not be a little meaner than the last time she was seen on the show(she will be so much worse). Look if you don't absolutely hate Miriam by the end of this chapter well then you kinda scare me. Now this chapter will finally set the stage for our finale which will be three parts. After this there is no turning back the master plan will be revealed in the next chapter. Then in 18-20 the battle with the harbinger will come to a conclusion. So guys finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: ha funny you actually thought i would write one sorta season 4 type thing ...or tails starts right now

...or tails

Emma tried to fight free from under her boot ,but Miriam was to strong. Emma needed something she needed a way out of this. She had an idea though. There was always one way to get under Miriam' s skin. "So Miriam I can still see your as ugly as usual."Emma said mockingly. Miriam pressed harder with her boot. "Shut up Emma nobody here cares what you think. Actually no one at all cares what you think." Emma immediately figured out that her plan wouldn't work at all. Meanwhile pressed up behind the rocks watching this whole ordeal. She had to save Emma from whoever Miriam was. It was clear to her that whoever Miriam was whether she was a mermaid or not knew that Emma was. Caroline was weighing options. After a few seconds she realized there was only one thing she could do. She would have to use her powers. she flopped her tail on the rocks as she pulled herself to the top. Miriam was to focused on Emma to notice Caroline ,but Emma saw her. Caroline cupped her hand and began to rotate it. Emma watched as a small mist began surrounding Miriam. Miriam noticed it and began looking around for answers. Then she saw Caroline. "So your little friend is one of them too." Miriam taunted. She then went to do something with her powers ,but Emma immediately froze the mist. It stuck to Miriam' s skin burning her which finally caused her to step back off of Emma. Emma wasted no time getting to her feet and getting in the water. Her mind had about a hundred thoughts a second. For starters she was right about Caroline being a mermaid. That she would be discussing with her friends and Fiancee for thinking she was crazy. Then secondly how the heck was Miriam infected by the Harbinger. Truthfully this was getting to the point of being to much. So far there were three harbinger crazed lunatics out to kinda take her and her friends out. Then a worse thought occurred to Emma. Caroline was alone on Mako Island against Miriam. She had to go back and save her.

Caroline was hiding in the jungle on the island. She had used her powers to dry off very quickly, but she couldn't get to the ocean in time. Now there she was running from some crazy woman in the woods. She knew there had to be some kind of body of water here. Something a stream, river, something that led to the ocean. She ran stumbling over rocks and twigs as she struggled through the dense forest that seemed to be fighting against her reaching safety. Then she saw it a small shallow river. It wasn't much, but it was something. It was something she could use to get away. She raced towards it her hair blowing in the wind. She was almost there. She was about to get in the water and head to safety. However it was about that time that Murphy started laughing. Just before she reached the water she tripped. She crawled to get to the water. Every bit of energy was spent getting to the water. She had finally made it to the edge. Then she put one hand on the water; however, all she felt was ice. Caroline rolled over and saw Miriam creeping forward. "You know that little mist trick of yours really did a good job of ticking me off." Miriam said approaching the fallen girl. "Well technically speaking it's a cloud." Caroline snarked. Miriam cracked one of those amused grins. "Well for someone who's facing an uncertain fate at this very moment you really are full of enthusiasm." She said. "Well what do I say. I'm just an enthusiastic person." Caroline replied. "Trust me girl, you don't want to know what's coming. Have you ever read the little mermaid. Not that crap with the singing crab. No the real version. The one that involves her having to cut off the fin. The one where in the end she turns to sea foam. Or how about that part where she cuts out her own tongue. Do you see where I'm going with this?" Miriam said. "No, I just sounds like you've been reading too much on the internet." Caroline said. "Cute, you see what I'm trying to say is that there isn't a happy ending to this story. You're not the young girl who can always use her good looks and charm to get out of trouble. So what do you say about that?" Caroline just thought for a second. At this point Miriam was right beside her kneeling in the dirt. Caroline turned and looked her dead in the face. Then without hesitation she spit in her face. Miriam touched her face stunned and then she was angry. She stood to her feet. "Oh, you'll regret that little girl." Miriam said. "Make me." Caroline challenged. Miriam then began squeezing the air in her empty hand. It was then that Caroline started feeling very hot. "What are you doing to me you witch." Caroline said. She was sweating badly her fever getting higher. Finally it became unbearable and Caroline screamed out in agony like an animal with an arrow through its heart. Miriam found this amusing. "What you don't like how having your old boiled feels? Well let me help you with that." She then changed her hand to just her hand sticking straight out pointing up. It was then that Caroline stopped fighting. She was cold, frozen, lifeless, and Miriam couldn't be more happy with herself. "Well that will teach her." She said. "Oh and by the way Tell Emma I wish she should have stuck around longer."

Emma had made it back to the island in about ten minutes. She then headed through the dense jungle. Emma had no idea where to look Mako island was huge and there was only one of her. She needed some kind of clue. Something that would lead her to Caroline. The part that terrified her was that she got one. She heard a blood curdling scream that pierced the jungle. Emma feared what Miriam may have done and raced toward the sound. She couldn't predict what she would see next. Then again, nobody could. What she saw stunned her. Caroline lay in the dirt unmoving. Her forearms pushed her back up and one of her knees was bent. Her crystal blue eyes were completely unmoving. They just stayed there with a blank stare that seemed to pierce Emma's soul. She felt her cheek ,but her skin felt like ice. Emma was afraid she knew what this was. All she could think about was the time they had to thaw Miriam. She needed Rikki. Without Rikki this would be impossible. She then saw the frozen water. She thought that Caroline may have been going to use it for her escape. However Miriam must have beat her to it. She knew her cell phone would have no signal here. she raced to the ocean she had to get back. When Emma reached the water she had to have set a record for the fastest any of the girls had ever swam. when she reached the shore she hurried and got dry. As soon as she had legs again she was off to the cafe. Her hopes were diminished though when she didn't see Rikki. Zane was at the counter counting money. She approached quickly. "Zane where's Rikki?" She asked in a bit of a hurry. "Shes in the office doing the books." Zane replied not looking up from the cash. Emma knocked on the door and when she heard a voice say the door was unlocked she wasted no time going in. Rikki was sitting behind the typing on a computer and looking at a calculator every now and then. "What do you need?" she asked not looking up from her work. "Rikki there's a bit of a problem that i need your help with." Emma said frantically. This time Rikki looked up from her work now interested. "What exactly would that problem be?" "I was with Caroline. When we kind of got attacked by Miriam who was possessed by that thing." Emma started before being interrupted. "Wait Miriam is one of them." Rikki said getting a little bitter knowing who was involved. "Yes, now as I was saying. Caroline who turns out to be a mermaid saved me from Miriam. I managed to get to the water in time ,but she didn't. She ran into the jungle ,but was caught and frozen by Miriam." Emma finished. "Just like the time with the freezer." Rikki said. "Yeah its weird." Emma said. "Wait Miriam didn't know about being frozen when she woke up. How would she know about that." Rikki said confused. "Ya know i was thinking the exact same thing." Emma said. "Well lets go we need to get to the water."

Rikki made sure to go very easy on the temperature. "You know Emma there was a reason I don't thaw living things on a regular basis." She said trying to ease some tension. "Why is that." Emma said watching on edge. "Because it's so freaking stressful." she said. They were monitoring the temperature when it finally hit 97. Rikki stopped heating. A few seconds later Caroline blinked and then took a huge breath of air. She looked around and saw Rikki and Emma sitting around her. "What did Miriam do?" Emma asked concerned. "Miriam, so that's the witches name. She boiled my blood and then snap froze it after I spit in her face." Caroline said a bit bitter. "I like this one." Rikki said. "Who are you?" Caroline asked. "Well kid I'm the one who just kind of thawed you out. " Rikki said. "So just a guess you're a mermaid too." She asked. "Yeah my power is the ability to Boil water." Rikki said. "If you didn't catch it earlier mine is that ability to freeze water." Emma said. "Oh and let me guess your friend Cleo isn't really scared of the water ,but shes a mermaid too." Caroline said. "I'll let her tell you that story ,but right now we should probably get you off this island." Emma said "Plus I'm kind of hungry." Rikki said putting a hand on her belly. "Of course you are. We can get something when we get to shore. " Emma said. "Can i just make one request?" Caroline asked. "What is that?" Emma said intrigued. "Please no ice cream." Caroline said before they all laughed.

The whole crew was meeting at Justin's house in the backyard by the pool. The guys were cooking on the grill up on the deck. while Emma, Cleo, and Rikki. were talking by the right staircase that led down to the pool. They had invited Elliot and Charlotte because they decided it was time he learned about their little secret. There was knocking on the gate. When it was opened by Emma Elliot and Caroline stepped in. "Hey guys thanks for inviting us." Elliot said. "Any time my brother-in-law." Justin said from up on the deck. "Brother-In-law?" Elliot said confused. Then Emma stuck out her finger revealing her ring to him. "Wait, your getting married." He said excited. "Yes, but that's not why we invited you here. "Then why did you?" Elliot asked Emma didn't answer just walked into the pool. Elliot just stood there stunned. "Wait your one too." He said looking at Caroline. "So are we." said Cleo as her and rikki stepped forward. "All three of us have been since I we were fifteen." Emma said floating. "How did this happen." Elliot asked. "It happened that night we got stuck on Mako Island." Emma answered. Then Cleo had a question. "Caroline, how did you become a mermaid." She asked curiously. "It started two years ago when my family went to Japan." she said. "We were taking a ride through Ise bay when something went wrong. our boat capsized and I was separated from my parents. Where I washed up was inside a small cave on an island. I kept walking hoping to find an exit. In the end though I just found a small pool of water. I knew that somehow it had to lead to the ocean. Well I had no sense of time while I was in there and didn't know that I had been walking for seven hours. I watched as the water began bubbling. when the moon shined down on it. I should have been afraid ,but I wasn't. I stepped into the water and swam. Before finally making it to the place where it connected to the ocean. I swam out ,but there was no other land for miles. I swam to a side of the island and slept amongst the jungle that night. The next morning I went to the ocean and put my feet in when I suddenly collapsed. It was then I realized what had happened. I swam back to shore in a hurry hiding behind some rocks hoping my legs would come back. The first thing I did when they finally did was go to the police to see about my parents. It turns out that my parents were there waiting for me." Caroline finished the story. "So that Mist thing you did this morning," Emma said, "Was that your power. "Yes," Caroline answered, " My power is to turn water into clouds. Now why exactly was Miriam trying to kill you today?" She asked. " I think it would be best if I answered that question." Justin said. "She has been possessed by an ancient spirit of hate who was imprisoned in the moonpool by my parents who has kinda hated my family since the beginning of time." he said. "That's...lovely." Caroline said sarcastically. "Yeah its high up on our priorities list." Cleo said from in the corner. "Justin, that list you gave Bella and Will. Did it say anything about the Ise Bay moonpool?" Emma asked. "Yeah it did. They just landed in Japan this morning actually." Justin answered. "Well," Rikki said, "I know this is a rather intriguing conversation ,but is the food ready yet." "Is she always like this?" Caroline asked. "Yeah most of the time." Emma answered. "However I have to agree is it ready." She continued. "Yes ladies the food is ready." Zane said from the deck. "Well," Elliot said, " Lets eat."

Well guys that is chapter 16 of 20. Expect chapter 17 up by Sunday and then next week were going to do 18-20. Now I'm sure theres going to be someone calling bull crap on the whole blood freezing thing. However according to Wikipedia (Because lets face it the internet is always right.) blood is 92% water. so therefore technically they should very easily be able to control it. Even if it is a little harsh. Now the whole surviving it part. That's where the whole willing suspension of disbelief comes in. Now the allusion in the chapter couldn't have been anymore obvious. Tell me what it is and i'll let you pick my next one. Please review and till next time stay cool.

17. episode 17

Hello ladies and gentlemen boys and girls children of all ages. Welcome to chapter 17. Today we have our last regular chapter before we move into part 1 of the finale. Now this chapter is called Hurricane advisory. Oh and sense someone will ask. No there isn't a hidden deeper meaning in the title. It's about as simple as it gets. So this chapter is set roughly two weeks after the last chapter. Now I didn't do this in the last chapter ,but I would like to thank the guest who submitted the idea for Caroline' s power. Now without further finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: I'm going to write a real one in the last chapter. Sorta season 4 type thing Hurricane advisory starts right now.
**

Hurricane Advisory

There was something about night diving that seemed to attract sharks. That was one thing that Justin had learned in his life. The truth was that he enjoyed it. The thrill of being down there in the dark with the great predators of the deep. Tonight was one of those nights that the sky was clear and the moon shined down on the ocean. The small little boat rolled with the small waves as he got geared up to jump in. When the tank was finally on the straps pressed against his skin as he rolled backwards into the dark water. Justin was wearing a pair of swimming trunks and had no shirt on. He hated wetsuits. He always said that they were unnatural and while wearing it he couldn't feel the water. There was a light attached to his mask it was designed to allow him to see in the dark waters. He swam towards the reef that surrounded mako island. The place had always been a shark breeding ground and usually Justin saw huge sharks around it. However tonight was different. For some reason there wasn't a single shark at the reef. There were some of the most beautiful fish imaginable ,but not a single shark. Justin immediately knew something was wrong. No sharks in shark breeding grounds was very bad news. He couldn't think of any reason why. The next morning however he would get his answer.

"Breaking news. We have just received word that a massive has been sighted off the coast and will hit land at six o'clock pm." Said the news anchor. Emergency crews have already begun evacuation process at surfers paradise and are working their way down momentarily. The storm mysteriously appeared last night and has been increasing in power exponentially since.." said the news anchor before Justin cut off the TV in the lab. Everyone ,but Zane and Rikki were there and the tension could be cut with a knife. "Well," spoke Lewis breaking the silence,"I don't think it takes much of as genius to figure out what's going on." "No, it really doesn't." Said Emma. "So, this harbinger thing has the power to create storms." Said Caroline concerned. "Not until no, but theoretically yes." Said Justin tenderly. "She's getting stronger." Cleo stated bluntly. "Or angrier." Emma noted. "Look, guys I don't know if this is just me or not, but I'm sick of playing defense." Said Cleo looking around. "What are you suggesting." Lewis asked. "I say that we attack this thing before it attacks us." Cleo said. Looking around. "How Cleo, we've barely held our ground against them on land. How will we do it in the water." Emma pointed out. "Well there is that one option." Justin said. "What... wait you can't be serious." Emma said. As Justin walked up to a weapon safe and opened it. He then pulled out the trident of the white saviour. "We have to try something." He said turning and facing them. "Why exactly do you have a trident." Caroline asked more than a little confused at this point. "This is the trident of the white saviour." He said. "Right, and what the heck is the white saviour." She asked. "Follow me." Justin answered before walking into the next room where the dolphin tank was. The pure white dolphin was on edge. It appeared agitated as if something was trying to hurt it. "This is the white saviour," Justin said, "it is the exact opposite of the black harbinger. Just like the harbinger it can willing take control of people and increase their power by ten fold. Except it takes a very powerful mermaid to control and it does not temporarily make its host a mermaid." "So why don't one of just use it to fight Charlotte." Caroline asked. "Because none of us are strong enough to control it." Emma answered. "So, if the harbinger is made of pure hatred, then what makes this thing?" Caroline asked the room was quiet. "I actually don't know." Justin admitted. "Hey, where exactly did you get the dolphin." Lewis asked. "I got a call about an injured dolphin and when I got there some old guy in a Hawaiian shirt named max told me it was special." Justin answered. As soon as he finished speaking Lewis, Cleo, and Emma were staring at him. "What?" He asked. "Ladies I need you to go help Rikki and Zane finish boarding up the cafe meet us back here at five o'clock." Lewis said.

"So Lewis it's been a long time." Max Said sitting in his beach chair. Justin and Lewis stood beside it listening. "Look max we need your help." Lewis said. "With the Black Harbinger thing." He said not looking up. "Yes, look you led me to the white saviour. You must know about this thing somehow." Justin said urgently. "Look guys, I know how to help you trust me I battled the harbinger with a little help." He said looking dead at Justin. "My parents." Justin said shocked. "The night your parents died they found me to help them. Your Father and I were on a boat. The harbinger capsized it causing your father to drown. I however managed to get to shore. Your mother was broken crippled. Watching her husband die in front of her was to much. She had been trying to control the saviour successfully, but couldn't do it there was something missing. A key of sorts that kept her from unlocking its true power. However then the power became to much for her. It overwhelmed her. Eventually it took her life. Before this however the full moon rose above the moonpool your mother had found it trying to hide and control the white saviour however the harbinger found it. The harbinger couldn't escape in time however and was trapped in the moonpool. The saviour having seen its foe trapped left your mother and disappeared." Max said looking at Justin. "Your mother was the last mermaid to wield the harbinger." "No not technically. That key you mentioned is a trident. Rikki used it for just a minute before being overwhelmed." Justin said. "Well if she was overwhelmed by the key. There is no way she can control the dolphin." Max said. "Well what does it take for a mermaid to wield the saviour." Lewis asked. "The thing about these spirits is that as usual the evil one is a lot easier to control than the good. For a mermaid to wield the saviour they must always confident. They must exemplify what it's made of." Max answered. "What exactly is that?" Justin asked. Max stood up and turned away and began walking. "The black harbinger is like Pandora's box." He said. "That's not an answer." Justin said frustrated. "Yes it is kid. I just told you everything." Said Max as he walked away.

Everyone was in the dolphin room. Waiting it was about an hour until the storm would hit land. "Well guys, I'm tired of sitting around waiting." Rikki said. "Me too." Cleo said. "I don't know about the rest of you, but I'm going to face the harbinger." Rikki said. "With or without the saviour." "I'll go too." Cleo said. "I can't let you too go out alone." Emma said. "I'm going too." Said Caroline. "No your not." Rikki said. "Why can't I." Caroline said. "Because you're a lot younger and you have seen what they're capable of." Cleo said. "I don't think any of us are fully aware of what they're capable of." Caroline replied. As if an answer to her question it was at that very moment that the lights went out.

well another chapter in the books. Tomorrow I will post part 1 of the season finale. So I gave a hint as to what the saviour is made of. I just want to hear what you think that is. Please just leave it in your review. Oh and remember when I told you that Max would be important. Well there you go. Finale starts tomorrow so im out. So till next time stay cool. Oh and place review.

18. episode 18

hello readers, writers, clowns, acrobats, batman. Welcome to part 1 of the sorta season 4 type thing finale. Now for those of you who have read this far I comened you. Now here we go for the finale I choose the name Blue underworld. I choose blue underworld because of A. It truthfully is crazy with this whole organic storm and all. And B. Because it's in the theme song. So welcome to the three chapters this nut has been building up to the whole chapter. Finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: I do not own any of the characters in this story except Justin. All characters are property of Johnathan M. Schiff and endless ocean. Sorta season 4 type thing finale blue underworld part 1 of 3 starts right now.

Blue underworld part 1 of 3

Darkness cannot drive out darkness; only light can do that. Hate cannot drive out hate; only love can do that.

-Martin Luther King .jr.

This is a story of hate. A story of the hate that two people can feel for one another. The hate that can only come from envy. Hate consumes all of us who allow it to. The thing about hate is that it doesn't mean to dislike. It doesn't mean to be bitter or resent. It doesn't mean to try to destroy or ruin. No hate is simply the act of having no love. These other things just come with it.

The ideal of seeing the sun was destroyed by the fact that nothing, but rain could be seen outside. "Well how will we get to the water now." Emma said trying to think of something. "Why don't we just run for it." Rikki said. "Because you'll never make it to the water before you turn." Lewis replied deep in thought. "Well there has to be some way to get to the water." Cleo said. "There is the old boat house on the other side of the building." Justin said. "Yeah ,but it requires a key card to open the door which won't open without power. Justin turned and saw a fire axe in a case on the wall. He pulled it out and turned. "I don't think that will be a problem." He said. "Well then, now that we have that settled I say that it's high time we go and kick some sense into the crazy chick who conjured up a freaking hurricane." Rikki said. "Amen to that." Said Cleo. "Well I'm still going with you." Caroline said. "Look, we promise that if we're about to lose you can come and help us ,but if not we want you to stay here where it's safe." Cleo said. "Fine." Caroline answered obviously not satisfied. "Ok then girls come with me I will get you into the ocean. Lewis you and caroline try to find out what this storm is doing while I'm gone." Justin said before walking out the door and into the empty hall. The combination of the power outage and the pouring rain was like a horror movie right down to the part about a small group heading into uncertain fate. They walked in silence all the way through nothing could stop it. Then they reached an obstacle. Right around the corner was the door which led to the boat house. However blocking their path was a hole in the sealing. The sound of rain was overwhelming so they all covered their ears. Cleo managed to hold back the rain long enough for the group to get through. The whole time though it was as though someone was pushing it down. Then they reached the glass door that led to the boat house. Justin just lifted the axe and smiled. Within a few strikes the door was "unlocked". They then stepped into the wooden room that was the boat house. A small boat was raised up on a lift and it blew heavily into the wind. The rain was deafening. "Ok guys this it just get in the water and stop her before she tears the whole city apart!" Justin yelled. The three nodded acknowledging what he said before locking hands and jumping in the water. "Stay safe." Justin said to himself as he watched them swim into the sea towards their destiny.

The three mermaids raced through the ocean. They had to get to Charlotte. They needed to hurry things kept getting worse. Finding the three harbinger minions however didn't take long. They were waiting for them. It was two formations of three facing off against each other. Charlotte and Cleo in the middle. Emma and Miriam on the right, and Sophie and Rikki on the left. They just stared off facing each other. Finally Charlotte pointed her trident dead at Cleo. Cleo then responded by sending a wave of water straight at Charlotte before charging. Emma and Rikki then charged at their respective counterparts with tailwhacks. These three Sophie and Miriam off balance which made them quite susceptible to the other attacks. Charlotte who had quickly recovered from her dazed heated a bit of water before sending it straight at Cleo. Which caused her to fall back in pain. "Poor little Cleo." Cleo heard Charlotte' s voice in her head. "Everyone just feels so bad for you. Yes I do hate you ,but you hated me first. You were always jealous because Lewis found someone else. I tried to be nice I genuinely did ,but you never wanted that did you. All you wanted was Lewis. So then I realized that I hate you." Charlotte said. Cleo then felt the water getting closer around her. Charlotte was approaching fast. She had her hand out just like Emma would when she froze things. Cleo then charged and broke Charlotte' s focus with a massive wave of water. Charlotte was off balance Cleo then decided to try and get a tail shot in ,but Charlotte lifted the butt of her trident and got Cleo upside the head. This knocked Cleo back and allowed Charlotte to use a wall of water to launch Cleo out of the water. She flipped back and landed right side up. However when she did she was surrounded. In some kind of triangle of evil. In front of her was Charlotte. To her right was Sophie and to her left was Miriam. All Cleo could think was where were Emma and Rikki. Sophie and Miriam each grabbed an arm while Charlotte inched the tip of the trident closer to her forehead. Cleo tried to fight free, but it was futile. She finally had given up hope when like a bolt from the blue lightning struck Charlotte. She turned and what she saw shocked everyone of them. The beautiful white tail, mixed with the pure white hair on the mermaid. "Leave her alone." Was heard in all their minds. What was going on.

Well guys that was part 1 now because I'm all sure you want to know what the heck just happened. I will be posting part 2 tomorrow which will show exactly what everybody else has been up to. So have a good day oh and tomorrow I will have a major announcement(announcements actually.). Trust me It's beneficial to hear it. So please review and till next time stay cool.

19. episode 19

Well guys it's that time again. Welcome to sorta season 4 type thing chapter 19. Now I left you last on a cliffhanger. Now just because I know you're just dying to know what happens next I'm going to show what the guys and Caroline have been doing while this is happening. Trust me you'll want to know it's one of those things where I want the last part to be the absolute conclusion. So ladies and Gentlemen also today I will make that big announcement that I mentioned. Oh and no I will not be announcing a sorta season 5 type thing. Well not yet anyways. So just have a good read. Finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: Justin and Caroline are the only characters in this story that I own the rest are either property of Jonathan m. Schiff or endless ocean. Sorta season 4 type thing Finale Blue Underworld part 2 of 3 starts right now

Blue Underworld part 2 of 3

Hope is like the sun, which, as we journey toward it casts the shadow of our burden behind us.

-Samuel smile

This is a story of hope. The hope that inspires us in our darkest hour. The truth is that even when all is lost. When there is nowhere safe to turn to. When you just feel like giving up. You will always have hope. You won't lose until you give up hope. For it was hope that has always led mankind through. Without hope though where would we be. There is a story about how all the evils came into this world. Guess how it ends.

"Stay safe." Justin said as he watched the young mermaids swim off. He knew what they were going up against wouldn't be easy. He knew that without the saviour it was simply hopeless optimism to think they could beat the harbinger. He began heading back to the dolphin room the whole time he hoped that Lewis had managed to get something on the radio about the storms patterns. The halls were worse without any company. Now they just felt deserted. When he reached that hole again water still poured in. The floor was ruined. At that moment his first thought was that it's a good thing we've got insurance. He trudged through the rain getting soaked in the process. He never stopped moving though. He kept walking until he got to the front of the building. He could see the storm through the glass double doors. He looked out just to catch a glimpse of the frenzy that had become the town except. The streets were empty. The cars were gone. The young couples who would usually walk by the water front were gone. The trees were blowing every which way. A few were down blocking parts of the road. This storm was getting worse by the minute. Then as if he was going crazy Justin heard a voice. "Justin," it said, "come to us." He knew this voice well because it belonged to his mother. He turned around ,but there was nothing there. He then noticed that the door to his office was open. He knew that was a wrong because he always shut the door. He walked up to it and looked inside. Then something else unusual happened. Sitting on his desk was a box with rapping paper on it. He walked up and looked on it. Their was a tag that said to. Justin from mom and dad. Justin slowly removed the wrapping paper. He slowly opened it. Inside he found two things. One was a necklace. It was done with pics shells all the way ,but it had a coin. On it with a little metal ring sticking with the top of the coin. The coin was smooth though. It had a golden sheen to it and it reminded Justin of a Fish scale. Then he knew what it was. It was a mermaid scale. He then put it around his neck. The other thing in the box was a book. The title was legends of Oceania and the Pacific Basin. He opened it and read the table of contents. He stopped when he read the words_ Harbinger of Hate._ He knew what this story was so he turned to the page and began reading.

_long ago there was a kingdom surrounded by the sea. This kingdom though was special because it's inhabitants on land moved as every other human ,but in the water they swam like fish. The king of this island was growing old and eventually it grew time to name his successor. The king had to options. His younger Brother or his beautiful daughter. Because she was of his seed he choose his daughter. His brother however was not pleased and grew to hate the Princess of the island. The Brother was a sorcerer of the dark arts and began to scheme of a way to become king. Finally he decided to create a being a living incarnation of hate. The hate that he had bottled up inside. He went out and collected the items he needed. The fin of a great white shark, The claw of a crab, the spines of a lionfish, and the tooth of a sperm whale. He gathered all the items and with them boiled them into a mix of black water. Before he knew it though the water came alive and pulled him in. He was corrupted and became focused on his one goal. After this he used the enhanced powers he had to create a trident that could take the powers of any next day he followed her when she went on her daily swim. She didn't have a care in the world. He attacked her and finally imprisoned her on an island having used his trident to drain her powers. That night it was reported that the king's daughter had gone missing by her personal servant. The king being much grieved by this sent his best warriors to go and find her, but because she was so far off they found nothing. Finally the king lost hope and gave his brother the right to the throne. The princess however did not die on that island. For she had also studied the art of sorcery from the elders of the kingdom. She had so much mental toughness that she refused to quit fighting. She then put all of this into a spell. She used all of her energy to create a new being. A being of pure energy. A being that no other force could stop. A force so powerful that it broke the block on her powers. With her new energy she created a trident more powerful than the other. Then she returned to the island where her uncle had become king. At the sight of the princess her uncle feared the worst for he had grown lazy. The two fought ,but finally after the touch of the trident the harbinger fled into the ocean and took the shape of a great whale. The second spirit followed and then took the form of a dolphin. The two residents then disappeared with them and were never seen again. Afterwards the new queens uncle was executed and she reigned until she died._

_ - a story from the Solomon islands._

Justin then closed the book and left his office. He walked back to the dolphin room where Lewis and Caroline still were. When he entered he put the fire axe back in the case. He then noticed that the storm was lightening up. "The girls must be fighting hard." Justin said. "Well, I hope your right. Justin we checked every channel ,but they're all dead." Lewis said. "Of course they are its us that were talking about." Justin added. "Hey guys listen." Caroline said. They listened and they heard the rain start picking back up. "Their losing." Justin said slowly losing hope. Caroline then stood up and walked towards the dolphin tank. "What are you doing?" Lewis asked confused. "Evening the odds." Caroline said without turning around. "This is crazy you can't do this." Lewis said. Justin looked beside him and saw the trident sitting there glowing. He then heard the voice in his head again. "My son, he answered your question. She has the energy let her fight." It said. Max's words rang in his head. "The harbinger is Pandora' s box." Then the part in the story about the white saviour' s creation came to him. He finally understood. He then picked up the trident and before Caroline touched the glowing dolphin spoke. "Wait," he said holding the trident out to her, "you need this to unlock the true power." "Justin,what are you doing." Lewis said. "She can handle it I know she can." Justin replied. "How do you know,max wouldn't even tell us the thing that a mermaid must have to control it." Lewis argued. "Yes he did," Justin said, "he said that the harbinger is Pandora' s box. The evil that goes into the world and corrupts things. It destroys what it wants when it wants. We opened Pandora's box. Not on purpose ,but a combination of our actions has resulted in this ,but that's the thing about Pandora's box. Even after its opened one thing remains inside. Because that thing will never leave humanity. The only thing that remains in the box is hope. Even in the darkest hour she refuses to give up hope. So she can control it." Caroline took the trident and touched the head of the dolphin with her free hand. The room glowed bright and before them stood the new Caroline. Her hair was now white as snow along with her lips and skin even down to her eyes. She then tapped her trident and in a blinding flash of light disappeared.

Charlotte was stunned by Caroline' s lightning strike. Sophie and Miriam immediately began pursuit ,but two more bolts of lightning and both of them turned into eels surrounded by black water. The lack of the two other mermaids weakened the storm. Then in both Cleo and Charlotte' s minds they heard. "Enough with the illusions created by hatred. It's time we end this."

so guys what did you think I personally enjoyed this chapter. So now for my blockbuster announcement. For starters after you will notice Bella and Will' s around the world deleted. Now don't fear because I am going to completely rewrite it and better than what I have. Second I would like to tell you that I am starting a website(well technically a wiki) where I will post ocean stories that aren't fanfiction ,but are 100% creations of my imagination. I will post a link to that on my profile when I am done with the last chapter of this. Eventually when I learn how it works I will open it up and let other writers who just enjoy the ocean as much as I do and like to write about it post on my site as well. Now the last chapter will go up on Monday morning. Not because I have to put it up then ,but because I want you all to wait. Now that means that along with it I will have more info on my site. So please review tell me what you think and if your ready for the next chapter oh and till next time stay cool.

20. Episode 20

Ok guys this is it. The last chapter of sorta season 4 type thing. Now it's been a long road to this. I started this story as a fourteen year old kid who just wanted to actually write something about the ocean. I remembered seeing an advertisement for this show on teen nick one day and I was like ok how will this be. So anyways I looked the show up on Hulu(no I don't have Netflix) and I watched the first two seasons and then up to the part where Lewis left in the third one. That was two summer's ago. I admit that I have been a bit lazy with updating and truthfully this story should have been done with two years ago. Trust me most of the writers that were on this site when I posted chapter 1 are gone. I admit that because I stayed gone so long and never tried reaching out that I missed a lot of opportunity for them to read this story. I remember that the day I posted I refreshed the reviews about every five minutes. I didn't get a single one for over three hours ,but when I did I must have read it 30 times. So I would just like to say thank you to anyone who has read every chapter of this story because it is because of you that I write the last chapter of the story that will define me on this sight. This story is my baby I love it and I will always finish it. What started on a hot August day in 2012 ends on an equally hot June day in 2014. So without further ado, finish the last shows credits and here we go.

Disclaimer: I don't own any of the characters ,but Caroline and Justin. All others are property of Jonathan m Schiff and endless ocean. Sorta season 4 type thing finale Blue Underworld part 3 of 3 starts right now.

Blue Underworld part 3 of 3

Mistakes are always forgivable, if one has the courage to admit them.

-Bruce Lee

This is a story of forgiveness. The forgiveness that comes when you really are willing to admit the flaws of your past and stand as new people. Independent and ready to get on with your lives. In life the only thing that can stop you is the unwillingness to deny the past and prepare for the future. The only problem is that it's easier to try than to actually do. Oh and if not for that we wouldn't have this story. Hate,Hope, and Forgiveness.

Charlotte and Caroline were locked in a supercharged mermaid Mexican standoff. Neither moved both of them just stared at each other. Then Caroline lifted the trident up and sent a shot of lightning at Charlotte. Charlotte moved back ,but quickly recovered and sent a bolt back at Caroline. Cleo used the opportunity to go find Emma and Rikki. She knew something must be wrong given that neither Sophie or Miriam were fighting one of them ,but instead She was trapped between the three of them. Something just didn't seem right. Then she got to wondering why Sophie and Miriam just turned into water and eels after Caroline' s lightning. She knew something was wrong. Then she kept diving deeper she saw something she didn't expect. There was Emma trapped against a wall of rock on the ocean floor with Sophie and Miriam circling like sharks. At this point though you could tell that Emma was starting to test the limits of her powers ability to hold her breath for long periods of time. One of the truest lessons the girls had learned in the time that they had their powers was just because they swim like a fish and look like a fish doesn't mean they're fish. Emma needed air badly so Cleo sent blasts of water rushing at Sophie and Miriam. They both turned and were in pursuit of Cleo. This allowed Emma to race up to the surface and get precious air. When she got to the surface she noticed that the storm was strongest here. She could see in the distance though that Mako island was calm. This made perfect sense. The eye was directly over Mako island. That meant that as long as it stayed there then the moonpool would still bubble. They could use this to their advantage if need be. Then she remembered that Cleo was still down there fighting off Sophie and Miriam. So she rejoined the fight. Emma dove quickly and saw Cleo swimming quickly to avoid the two harbinger mermaids. Every little while she would send water at them trying to slow the lethal pair down. Then Emma got an idea. As soon as Cleo shot the water Emma froze it. This hit Sophie directly in the face. She then turned into an eel and a mess of black water. Cleo then joined Emma at her side. Emma getting curious began deep freezing the water around Miriam. She kept the freeze on until the ice turned black and inside the shape of an eel could be seen. Then Cleo and Emma went to find Rikki. The thing about Rikki was that when she used her powers on a massive scale she wasn't hard to find. This was one of those times. They could see bubbles coming from the distance in the water. The closer they swam the quicker they realized how much help Rikki needed. Rikki was surrounded by a wall of ice on the inside the water was boiling. Sophie was rapidly heating the water while Miriam put all her energy into keeping the wall frozen. Cleo created a blast of water that Emma froze taking out Miriam. Without the ice Rikki broke free and heated the water around Sophie to boiling in a matter of seconds. Sophie and Miriam reverted into water with eels as the girls swam to the surface. "Ok this is really weird. So far we've taken out three Sophies and three Miriams however I've only seen one Charlotte." Cleo said. "Wait three a piece. I thought that Emma was down and those two were double teaming me." Rikki said. "No, Cleo finished her fight with Charlotte and then showed up and saved me from them to." Emma said. "Wait so you defeated Charlotte." Rikki said shocked. "No I didn't." Cleo said. "Charlotte had me restrained by Miriam and Sophie when Caroline showed up with what I'm assuming to be that white saviour thing amplifying her powers. She took out those two goons and then I went and found Emma." "Wait, so what were they doing when you left." Emma asked interested. "They were pretty much playing a high voltage game of Chicken." Cleo replied. "Well we need to find them." Rikki said. It was then that they heard thunder and turned to see an explosion of lightning coming from the top of the volcano on mako island.

The girls reached the cave through land in time to see Charlotte and Caroline locked in a duel of power. The room felt so strange.

Charlotte radiated so much cold where Caroline radiated warmth. The two were giving each other every attack they could think of. The only problem that Charlotte had was that she still only had the basic three powers. While Caroline now had complete and total control over water. However for her finishing blow she used her power. It was a chain type deal. Charlotte lifted a ball of water and launched it at Caroline. Caroline then used her unique power to turn it into a mist blinding Charlotte. It was then that Caroline was able to get close and touch her forehead with the tip of her trident. As the air cleared the girls watched as Charlotte dropped to her knees convulsing. Finally her hair began turning red and her skin tone became its normal color. Then a pile of black water sank into the moonpool and rose into a great serpent. Charlotte, who looked like she had just come out of a nightmare only to find out it was real, was horrified. Caroline turned to the girls and spoke one sentence. "Get her out of here." Emma raced in and grabbed Charlotte trying to get her to the exit. Charlotte finally regained her bearings and raced with the others to the exit. With the two alone the serpent went to strike ,but Caroline would stab its nose with her trident. She looked up at the sky waiting. Then it happened the moon was over the moonpool. When the pool started bubbling the serpent became agitated and lashed out wildly. With it distracted Caroline put the trident into the center of the harbingers body. In a searing flash of light it was over. Caroline once again looked like her normal self the pool was no longer bubbling. On the back wall of the cave there were two cave paintings. One was a completely black whale and the other was a completely white dolphin.

They all met up back at the lab where everything was being cleaned up after the storm. Charlotte spoke saying. "Look everyone I'm sorry for my actions as of late. The night I met this thing was the same night I learned about your engagement. I went down to the water and part of it was black. It was if it was calling to me. When I touched it all I felt was anger. I then saw all the things it did. I am deeply sorry." "Charlotte I think that our feud has gone on way to long. I think we should just put all of this behind us." Cleo said. "I do to after all we're all grown now." Emma said. "Well I'm not so su.." Rikki started before Emma elbowed her in the side. "Actually after a little more thinking I think it's a great idea." Rikki said. "So were cool." Charlotte said. "Yeah were cool," said Cleo. "So,guys does anyone have any clue what was up with Sophie and Miriam." "Well for starters I think its worth noting that Miriam has lived in the U.K. since graduation. Where she has become one of the leading models and was giving a press conference about an hour ago. Then Sophie has been in Brazil all week taking pictures of parrots." Justin said sitting up. "How do you know all this." Caroline said. "Its amazing what Facebook can do." He answered "My theory is that when Rikki was possessed and Emma got blocked. It took two focus' of hate out of your minds and made realistic copies of them." "Well that's not at all freaky." Rikki said just before her phone rang. "Hey, Zane." She said. "Okay I'll tell... OK bye." She then hung up the phone. "Hey guys Zane said that he's got food cooking if anyone wants some. "I'm for it." Emma said. Then the rest of them all agreed. Everyone started leaving and only Charlotte and Cleo stayed behind. "Look Cleo. I want you to make me one promise." Charlotte said. "What is it?" Cleo said. "I want you to take care of him and always love him OK." She answered. "You've got it." Cleo said. "Now let's go get some food." "I can go for that." Charlotte said.

This was a story of Hate. This was a story of Hope. This was a story of Forgiveness. This was the story of how a young Mermaid named Caroline commanded the ocean.

The End

Well guys that was it the end of Sorta Season 4 type thing. The funny part is I actually wrote this story on Tuesday. So pretty much I'm putting the authors note on today and what I refer to as the post credit scene. So what do you think. Truthfully I just couldn't wait until Monday. Now my website is taking a little longer to get ready then I thought so I will dÃ©but it next week with the Revived Bella and Will's around the world. So since I have nothing left to say. Please Review and till next time... actually there is something else I want to say. Welcome to the post Credit scene.
>

Clear water ,Florida, United states of America.

A single scientist walks through the door to an office. He steps in front of the desk where the chair is turned around. A female voice then speaks. "What do you want nick." "Dr. You may want to see this." He says sitting a manilla folder with the words Mako Island across it on her desk. "She then turns around to show herself to be a young blonde haired doctor. She began thumbing through the files. "Now this is interesting. Please close the door." The door is shut blocking out the conversation. However on the door is a gold name tag with one word on it. Denman. Then the screen goes dark and in gold letters one date appears.

7-5-14

Please Review (I mean come on please this is the last chapter,Please at least one.) and till next time stay cool.

End
file.